SANITARY ROLL IS $9,300,000

BACK OF FUNDS LOCKS OPENING OF WATERWAY

Need $3,186,000 to Finish Gulf Route.

Sanitary district of Illinois and great lakes region for an early opening of the waterway to the gulf waterway, with the highest rates, were shattered by William F. Mulvihill, supervisor of the sanitary-district commission under Gov. Len Small.

A deficiency of $3,186,000 in the sanitary district available for completion of the waterway was discovered last week by a financial statement made to Mr. Mulvihill. Instead of the $29,000,000 originally appropriated for the project, a total of $25,814,000 is now required, he reported after an investigation of the sanitary district's accounts.

Mr. Mulvihill's estimate, he admitted, having obtained no recent estimate of the waterway costs he came into office three years ago. He had never been separated from the state's books, and it is impossible at this time to get a detailed statement of where the money already paid has gone. Mr. Mulvihill admitted that he has been assigned now through years of bookkeeping to prepare a detailed statement of expenditures, he said.

Under the Mulvihill regime, the commission of the waterway has been run almost entirely, and many contracts have been let. A total of $1,333, 000 has been spent, most of it since Mulvihill took office. Unpaid contracts for an additional $3,322,011 have been let, leaving a free balance available of $2,481,989 out of the original $29,000,000. This free balance, it now is known, is short by $3,186,000 of the total of $12,631,000 still required.

For months Mr. Mulvihill has made definite promises, in public hearings and in published statements, that the state had sufficient funds to complete the waterway, and to do so by April 1, 1931, he has admitted that the funds were lacking. He admitted that no additional funds can be obtained until November, 1931, when a new bond issue will be approved by voters in the election.

Delayed at Least a Year.
He still insisted that the state had from the waterway in less than one month after that election for the opening of navigation in 1931.
The statement was characterized as optimistic on its face by nationally known, experienced waterway engineers who were shown the Mulvihill reports and his program.

The engineers declared the lack of funds would cause at least a year's delay and probably two years' delay in opening the waterway.

Mulvihill is a lawyer who has held political jobs, and does not claim to be an engineer. He is desirous of being retained in office when the waterway is completed, and Mulvihill's chief engineer,
Mr. C. J. Cornish, supported his superior's position on the completion of the waterway.

He is a subordinate under Mulvihill and Leslie D. Small, son of the governor, who is department manager under Mulvihill and the division of waterways.

With the delay of one or two years more, it means that the farmers, who had been promised a better price for their grain when the freight costs were lowered, and all other midwest farmers, who had visions of being better off by lowering their prices and winning the freight cost gains with consumers, must be held up.

Sanitary Plans Blocked.
Sanitary district industries and utilities have been planning their large expansion, arranging for shipments to new fields in the Mississippi valley, and all these plans now face a big delay.

After eight years of the Small administration, it is learned that the waterway cannot be completed on time; there is a large lack of funds for the project, and that there will be serious long delays as a result.

VIRGIL LITZINGER SURRENDERS TO U. S. INSPECTOR

Phones Postal Chief; Meet at Hotel.

Virgil Litzinger, sought intermittently by authorities for nearly three years for various crimes, including the $135,000 Evergreen Park mail robbery, two murders, and a loop theater robbery, surrendered himself to Chief Postal Inspector K. F. Aldrich yesterday.

Page 1.

The surrender of Litzinger was a surprise. The fugitive simply stepped from a taxi and walked up to Inspector Aldrich, who was waiting for him by prearrangement in the Atlantic hotel, 316 South Clark street.

Page 1.

Two minutes later the inspector and Litzinger walked down Clark street and into the inspector's office in the federal building. Behind the pair walked four assistant inspectors with Police Sergeant Michael Naughton and a squad of detectives from the detective bureau, all armed.

Page 1.

Takes Heavy Guard Along.
Inspector Aldrich, when Litzinger had arranged the surrender by phone, had taken the elaborate escort along, incredulous that Virgil really intended to surrender without a struggle.

Page 1.

This phone call came to Aldrich's office at 10 a. m. "Tell Mr. Aldrich to meet me at the Atlantic hotel at 3 o'clock," the fugitive had said, identifying himself.

Page 1.

Mr. Aldrich, celebrating with his staff his first anniversary as chief inspectors, lay back in his chair and laughed heartily when Paul Blake, his assistant, delivered the message.

"Just some chap spoofing us," he said, but he was not to be so sure.

Page 1.

Litzinger promptly denied guilt when asked about each of the charges for which he was sought. He is under indictment for the $135,000 Evergreen Park mail robbery of Feb. 25, 1925, and the murder in February, 1926, of Clarence Glynn in a saloon at 2801 West 38th street.

Page 1.

Was in England, He Says.
Litzinger was told three witnesses testified he helped them commit the Evergreen job, but he merely smiled.

Page 1.

"Pipe dreams," he declared. "I never heard of any of those people."

Page 1.

"See here," he said, throwing back his head and looking over his shoulder at the stamp of a Hampshire England, maker. "Here's where I've been for the last three years. London, Southampton, Wales—all over.
Just landed a couple of days ago, and ran right up to see Mr. Aldrich soon as I heard they'd been looking all over for me."

Page 1.

Apparently not taking Mr. Litzinger's statements too seriously, Inspector Aldrich produced a bench warrant for his arrest in the mail robbery, and last night Litzinger was in the county jail under $100,000 bonds. Litzinger said he had made no arrangements to make his bond, and indicated he was willing to stay in jail until his trial.

Page 1.

Denies Two Murders.
At the detective bureau, where he was taken after his interview with Aldrich, Litzinger reaffirmed his denials of the murder of Glynn, for which he was indicted, and the murder of Willie Jackson, mysteriously shot to death while a fugitive in the mail robbery case.

Page 1.

"Yes, I knew Glynn, but I didn't kill him. I was in England when that happened, too," Litzinger said, fingering again the Hampshire label.

Page 1.

"And as for this Jackson, I never heard of that fellow before in my life."

Page 1.

According to one theory of federal and city detectives, Jackson was killed in a quarrel over his share of the Evergreen loot. Litzinger was seen sitting with Jackson in the latter's automobile a short time before Jackson's bullet-riddled body was found in the car, authorities were informed.

Page 1.

Johnson to Rush Trial.
United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson declared an intention of prosecuting "promptly and vigorously" the case against Litzinger. He said he intended rushing him to trial at the earliest possible date.

Page 1.

Deputy Commissioner John P.
Stegge declared an eagerness to push the case.

BULL MARKET GETS SETBACK

Wall street's great bull market met a decided check yesterday when many of the most active stocks fell from 1 to 12 points. Fifty representative issues showed an average loss of 1.66 points for the day, during which 5,900, 200 shares were traded in. Full details will be found on the market pages in the second section of this newspaper.

BOMBS DAMAGE TWO SALOONS ON SOUTHWEST SIDE

Two powerful bombs, exploded within five minutes of each other and a little more than a mile apart, shook the near southwest side early this morning and caused damage estimated at $2,000.

The first explosion occurred in front of the soft drink parlor of Alex Mandich and John Winters at 1524 South Throop street. The explosive, evidently loosed from a passing automobile, struck the automobile of Harry Curran, son of the late State Representative Thomas Curran, which was parked at the curb, and wrecked it. Curran resides above the saloon. He, his wife, and their daughter, Ruth, 5 years old,
were hurled from their beds.

Mandich was counting receipts in his place, but was uninjured. Windows in the Throop school across the street and in other nearby buildings were blown out.

Five minutes after this blast the second bomb was touched off in the front doorway of the soft drink parlor of Edward F. Frank at 2151 West 21st street.

Jacob M. Dickinson Under Observation in Hospital

Jacob M. Dickinson, prominent lawyer and at one time secretary of war, is under observation for jaundice at St. Luke's hospital. It was learned last night. Mr. Dickinson, who served as secretary of war in President Taft's cabinet from March, 1909, to May, 1911, has been ill in his home at 31
East Elm street for the last six weeks.

He went to the hospital Tuesday upon the orders of his physician, Dr. Arthur R. Elliott. Mr. Dickinson is nearly 75 years old. Considering his age, his condition is good, his son, Capt. Jacob M. Dickinson Jr., said last night.

$20,000,000 Paid for Loop Bank Building

The largest transaction in the history of Chicago real estate was completed yesterday when the Utilities Power and Light corporation bought the land and building of the Continental National Bank and Trust company at 208 South La Salle street for a price reliably reported to be in the neighborhood of $20,000,000.

This purchase sets at rest a host of rumors regarding the buyer of this property. Among others it was previously reported that the Insull interests and the United States Steel corporation had acquired it.

Occupying the block bounded by La Salle, Adams, Wells and Quincy streets, the bank building is twenty-one stories high and contains more than 650,000 square feet of rentable area. When it was completed in 1914 it ranked among the world's largest commercial edifices.

Central Trust to Move.

It was also announced last night by Joseph E. Otis, president of the Central Trust company, that his bank, now on Monroe street, would move into the banking quarters of the Continental above Feb. 1. The Central Trust has taken a thirty year lease on the premises.

The sale of the Continental bank building resulted from the recent merger of the Continental with the Illinois Merchants Trust company. It was decided the two banks would occupy the recently completed home of the latter at 231 South La Salle. The Continental will move as soon as all details of the merger are completed.

Owns Twelve Story Building.

For some years the Utilities Power and Light corporation has owned and occupied the twelve story structure known as the Utilities building at 237 South La Salle street—across from the Board of Trade and Postal Telegraph building.

It is reported that a new corporation is one of the largest public utility companies in the nation, with numerous subsidiaries. In addition, with British associates, the concern has large investments in English light and power corporations. The property it controls are said to have a total valuation in excess of $200,000,000.

Leaps to Death in River as Unheeding Crowd Passes

While scores of pedestrians walked by unheeding an unidentified man remained his coat and hat, vaulted the rail of the Monroe street bridge, and was drowned in the river late yesterday. Des Plaines street police found no identification papers in the garments. They started dragging the river for the body.

first mortgage on the property at 208 South La Salle street will be put on the market by the Federal Se- curities corporation.

Coincident with the purchase of the Continental property it is announced that five stories will be added to the present Utilities building, making it a seventeen story structure.

The Utilities Power and Light corporation is one of

in the annual appropriation. Still another is the real estate department. These three departments have spent in salaries $3,729,140 more than was appropriated for them and there is still a month and a half yet to be paid for. Appropriations and expenses of these three lavish departments of taxes thus far are compared in this table:

Department	Salary	Salary
	appropriation	paid
Real estate	$3,000,000	$2,425,000
Taxes and salaries	$3,729,140	$2,500,000
Law	$750,000	$1,750,000

Total: $3,729,140 $2,425,000

Difficult to Cover Up.

If there is no law which prohibits this unauthorized spending of $3,729,000 in salaries, as district lawyers claim the trustees will be able to cover up the excess expenditures by making transfers to depleted appropriations. But, it is pointed out, if they transfer only from salary accounts, they will still be shy more than $5,534,000. They will be forced to take money from construction money ordered by the federal government or materials and supplies to be used in construction, to even up the over-reduced salary accounts.

This unauthorized $3,729,140 expenditure on jobs was made without a meeting of the district's executive committee, according to one trustee. A number of lawyers who interpret the law and legislators who make the law, and politicians, got large bounties of the district's fat. The way it was fed out by months is shown by the following tabulation:

Month	Pay roll
January	$738,041
February	700,000
March	800,000
April	940,000
May	800,000
June	800,000
July	800,000
August	800,000
September	800,000
October	800,000
November, 15 days	600,000

Total: $9,380,000

Some of the employees of the sanitary district work, including lawyers. Some of the members of the Chicago Bar association believe that the working lawyers should be protected. President Sidney S. Gorman of the association said yesterday he thinks it pertinent to ascertain what lawyers on the district pay roll are working and give them credit for so doing.

SOUTH AMERICA ENDS INNER ROWS AS HOOVER NEARS

Peru and Chile Lead Grand Good Will March.

BY DON FERNANDO.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 21.—A growing Pan American consciousness is seen by observers here in the large number of "good will" tours various Latin American nations and groups are paying one another this season. Now the impending visit of President Herbert Hoover to Chile, Peru, and Argentina, is being hailed as an excellent time for his trip around South America.

In the past the charge has often been made that Pan Americanism, insofar as it affected the principal South American nations, was nothing more than an after dinner orator's rubber stamp, and there was a noticeable lack of neighborly travel from one nation to another.

When a Latin American traveled he went to Europe and it was unthinkable for a Chilean, for instance, to spend the season in Peru, or for a Brazilian or Argentinian to spend the summer in Chile.

Peru and Chile Set Pace.
This year, however, times have greatly changed and the official and unofficial families of Peru, Chile, Argentina, Brazil and Paraguay are rapidly becoming chummy friends.

The immediate reasons, of course, are the resumption of diplomatic relations between Chile and Peru; the many gestures, successful and otherwise, toward the settlement of long standing boundary disputes between Peru and Ecuador, Bolivia and Paraguay and other nations, and declarations of lasting friendship between Chile and Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Bolivia and Peru, and Paraguay and Chile.

Semi-official good will tours are the order of the present season and recently a large party of influential Chileans made a tour of Peru and the visit was promptly reciprocated by an even larger group of Peruvians.

A party of 250 prominent Brazilians is soon to make a tour of Chile and arrangements are going forward in Santiago to organize a return call.

A large Chilean tour to the Argentine has been announced for the latter part of December, and others are in the making.

Official visits are numerous this season and perhaps the most brilliant of the year was the visit of the Paraguayan president elect, Dr. Guggiarri, to Chile.

Even athletics have greatly profited by the renewed chummy relations and recently a Peruvian football team was given a warm reception in Santiago, while, wonder of wonders, a Chilean theatrical company dared to hold the boards in a Lima show house.

Europe Travel Falls Off.
Individual travel also has greatly increased, and Ex-Printers' largest South American travel agency, reports an unprecedented demand for inter-

ALDERMAN SEEKS TO PUT CRIMP IN CARS FOR OFFICIALS

Easy riding city officials with expensive limousines bought and operated with taxpayers' money may not ride so easily next year if a resolution presented to the city council yesterday by Ald. Wiley W. Mills [37th] brings results.

"Upwards of $500,000 has been spent in 1927 for the purchase and maintenance of official cars—an expensive graft depending upon political influence and favoritism rather than actual need," Ald. Mills asserted. His resolution orders that all payments for running official automobiles be abolished in 1928 and that the city contract for transportation of employees with taxicab and "drive yourself" companies. The resolution was referred to the financial committee.

Latin American tours with a proportionate falling off in European travel.

Observers here view this getting together of the official and unofficial families of the Ibañez, Alvear's and Leguía's as auguring for improved relations between the principal South American nations, which while usually more or less cordial on the surface often have been upset within by national jealousies kept alive by the man in the street.

Brazil Prepares Welcome.
RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 21.—(AP)—Official Brazil is so interested in the coming visit of Herbert Hoover that it wishes to welcome him in several states of the republic and to entertain him as guest of the government during his stay.

Circles close to the administration of President Washington Luis said today that the chief executive had expressed the view that Mr. Hoover's visit to the Sao Paulo coffee district would be most important from the standpoint of Brazilian growers.

A Mild Critic.

COMPLETE CHECKER TAXI AUDIT; WILL BE GIVEN SWANSON

The audit of the books of the Checker Taxicab company ordered by the October grand jury was completed yesterday and turned over to Chief Justice John J. Sullivan of the Criminal court. The chief justice said he would turn over the report to State's Attorney Elect John Swanson when the latter takes office on Dec. 3.

The grand jury started an investigation into the taxicab situation and the charges and countercharges made by officials of that company and the Yellow Cab company.

Judge Sullivan refused to divulge the contents of the audit. He would not say whether it substantiated the charges made by officials of the Checker company that approximately $30,000 was paid out for license fees which never reached the city treasury.

Twins Are Here; All They Need Is Parents (Foster)

A pair of newborn twins—a boy and a girl—are at the Jefferson Park hospital awaiting the arrival of a set of foster parents, Dr. S. G. Seinfeld, 1408 South Crawford avenue, announced last night. The twins arrived on Tuesday morning. Dr. Seinfeld said the mother, who was deserted by her husband some time ago, wishes to have them adopted because she cannot support them. He said the twins are normal and healthy, the boy weighing 5½ pounds and the girl 4½ pounds.

Burglar Robs Mother and Daughter of Gems; Escapes

When Mrs. Mildred Peterson and her 15 year old daughter, Hope, entered their home at 4940 Ellis avenue last evening after shopping, they found a burglar piling up his loot in the middle of the living room. The intruder, who displayed no weapon, ordered mother and daughter to remove their gloves and then took from Mrs. Peterson her rings, worth $900, and from the girl a $50 wrist watch.

Springer was wanted on a charge of threatening a neighbor with a shotgun.

Crossing Crash Kills Head of Indiana School

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 21.—(Special.)—Dr. Frank Caspar Wagner, president of Rose Polytechnic institute here, was killed this afternoon when the small coupe in which he was riding was struck by a Terre Haute, Indiana, and Eastern traction car.

Dr. Wagner was just leaving the school grounds when the accident occurred. The auto was smashed to small bits and was carried nearly 100 yards before the motorist was able to bring his car to a stop.

Dr. Wagner, who was nationally known in engineering circles, had been president of Rose Polytechnic for five years. Prior to that time he was a member of the faculty. Two years ago Prof. Sheldon Johnson of Rose Polytechnic was killed at the same crossing.

2 DIE, 15 HURT AS BUS HITS PARKED TRUCK

A Chicago-bound passenger bus crashed into the rear of a parked truck early yesterday near Broadwood Ill., south of Joliet, killing a man and a little girl and injuring fifteen other persons. The dead are Peter Gaertner of St. Louis, Mo., and a girl about 12 years old believed to have been a daughter of Mrs. Ida Rexroth of West Frankfort, Ill. Mrs. Rexroth was among those seriously injured. Others badly hurt are:

W. L. Gerstoft, 34, of St. Louis; J. H. Ferren, Detroit; J. H. Englan, 36, of 3369 Champlain avenue, Frank Smith, 23, of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Edward Welch, 27, of 2416 Diversey Parkway, Morton, Jinner, 35, of Wichita, Kan.; Leo Wheeler, 33, of Ottawa, Ill.; Irene Schler, 22, of Sedalia, Mo.; Clarence Peterson, 23, of Joliet; William Evans, 34, of Pontiac, Ill.; and Mrs. C. Weston, 42, of 6523 Langley avenue.

The accident happened shortly before daylight. Edward Welch, driver of the bus, said he did not see the truck until too late to avoid the crash.

In Cook county, one death during the day raised the 1928 toll to 944.

Thomas Montello, 45 years old, 1217 Wentworth avenue, Chicago Heights, died from injuries suffered Monday when the automobile which he was driving collided with another car at Glenwood road and Torrence avenue, near Chicago Heights. Fred Daylog, 956 East 63d street, driver of the second car, was seriously hurt.

Frank C. Powers, 54 years old, of Chicago, died at Louisville, Ky., as a result of an auto accident Saturday.

HILARITY OF CAFE OPENING CAUSES JUDGE TO STOP IT

Hilarity in the vicinity of the Midway Frolics cafe, 216 and State streets, changed abruptly to gloom yesterday when Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson refused to permit the reopening of the resort as planned by Herman Griffin, the new manager. The place was closed last spring for violating the liquor laws.

Judge Wilkerson acted after reading an advertisement of the place promising a display of pretty girls and much merriment. The court held he could see no difference between the contemplated manner of operating the resort and the former regime, though he promised to reconsider his action tomorrow if Griffin could show him the place was to run only as "an old fashioned restaurant."

Show girls, orchestra members, waiters, cigarret girls, and the rest of the staff assembled by Griffin for a "big night" packed up their belongings and went sadly home upon learning there was to be no reopening. Griffin said he had spent $12,000 fixing up the place.

In Cook county, one death during the day raised the 1928 toll to 944.

MUTINY ABOARD SINKING VESTRIS BARED BY MATE

He Whispers Story of Final Panic.

BY TOM PETTIE.

New York, Nov. 21.—(Special.)—With its decks tilted skyward, the Vestris went down amid scenes of the wildest confusion. For several hours before the British liner, stern battered and weary from her burden of 1,000 tons of water, went rolling to the bottom of the sea, the crew and the passengers had been out of hand. But, although the actual word did not come out at either of the two federal inquiries today, there was mutiny aboard the Vestris in those last hours.

Chief Officer Frank Johnson, reluctantly told the story today at the inquiry conducted by United States Attorney Charles Tuttle. Questioned by Capt. E. P. Jessup, U. S. N., United States marine expert, and Henry McCook, nautical expert for the British crown, Johnson, in an agony of hesitation, sat on the witness stand, twisting his hands until his knuckles were white, and whispered out the truth.

Tells Tale of Terror.
And this is what he whispered: In the terror that swept over the Vestris as it lay foundering off the Virginia coast last Nov. 12, the officers wouldn't go to their stations. Not a lifeboat set out properly manned or properly filled. One officer flatly refused to obey the chief officer, and he could not find the others.

There never was a general call to lifeboats. The passengers were not assigned to any particular boats and the new members of the crew had received no instructions concerning lifeboats.

The iron chains on a number of the lifeboats proved faulty and broke under the weight of the boats, spilling those already in the boats into the sea. The patent releasing gear on the lifeboats failed to work, proving a hindrance to successful launching.

As early as noon Sunday the Vestris wouldn't steer, and Capt. William Carey, who later went down with the ship, was forced to cut down his speed and leave to.

At 4 a. m. on the Monday the ship went down, Capt. Carey was unable to give "any helpful suggestions."

The sea never was high enough nor the storm severe enough to endanger a sound vessel.

That if he had been in Capt. Carey's place he would have waited just as long to send out an S. O. S. That he would have relied on improving weather and his pumps to save the ship, although he now realizes it would have been a serious mistake.

Chief Officer Johnson appeared broken, frightened, and still bewildered to

EXPLORATION

Theodore Roosevelt, his brother, Kermit, and Eudam Cutting of New York, left London Tuesday for the Red Sea, en route to India. The expedition, which will explore under the auspices of the Field Museum of Chicago, the party will map the district, according to Col. Roosevelt, and hunt specimens of the fauna, a rare mountain animal with long, golden hair, new species of deer, and other large mammals. The party will also search for the Indus, to make a collection of elephants, buffalo, and wild water rhinoceros. The trip will take a minimum of six months and probably much longer.

day as he whispered his replies to Capt. Jessup.

Q.—Why, if as you testified, the ship did not start listing until 7:30 Sunday evening, did she heave to Sunday noon? A.—The wind was abeam and she wouldn't steer.

Q.—Why not? I can see why she wouldn't steer if the wind were abeam, or astern, but I cannot see why she wouldn't steer with the wind abeam. A.—(After long reflection)—You see, I meant we had to keep the beam hard over to keep her on the course, but she wouldn't hold it.

Q.—Now about this leaking half door on the starboard side. Do you mean to tell me enough water was coming in there from occasional waves striking it to give the ship a list? A.—We didn't know where the water was coming from.

Admitted Ship Was Unsafe.
Q.—With the list increasing constantly, was it not a fact that until this list could be stopped the ship was not in a safe condition? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was an officer detailed to each boat in case of abandoning ship? A.—Yes.

Q.—We have much testimony that very few officers were in the boats. Why was that? A.—They would not go. Helger, the second officer, was down with the captain. I ran up to him and said: "Come on, get on that boat." "I will not," he answered. "I won't go to any boat." What would one do in a case like that?

"Are you asking me that question?" snapped Capt. Jessup. "The first and second officers were on the port side," continued Johnson. "The third was on the poop. I don't know where the engineers were. I couldn't go 'round to look for them. I was too busy."

Q.—Can't you, as chief officer, control your men? A.—Yes, sir, I can. Q.—Then why were some of the boats lowered half-way and left full of doomed women and children? A.—Those boats were not on my side of the ship. I knew nothing about them. Q.—In getting the boats out it has been very noticeable that most of the women and children were put into the port boats. Were not those boats the most difficult to get away? A.—Yes, but they were the ones we were trying to get away from.

Q.—Mr. Johnson, were these the most dangerous boats, if they were filled with people who did not know how to handle them? A.—After a full two, minutes' pause—Possibly they were.

Q.—Mr. Johnson, the records show the Vestris called the Vestris Monday morning every half hour from 4 to 8 o'clock. They got in touch once or twice and the Vestris operator told the Voltair: "We have nothing to report." Why didn't the captain report your serious condition at that time? A.—I don't know.

Chief Engineer James Adams, who previously had testified concerning the engine room situation on the Vestris, was recalled. He agreed with the two nautical experts that somewhere under the coal bunkers the ship had sprung a leak that let in approximately 100 tons of water. He told of emptying water ballast tanks of half that amount of water without correcting the list in the slightest.

The Customs Hearing.
While Johnson and other seamen were being questioned at the Tuttle inquiry, another hearing was under way at the customs house before Dickerson N. Hoover, supervising inspector of the department of commerce.

Passengers who escaped from the sinking liner testified to port holes stuffed with rags to keep out the water, of a list when the vessel left New York pier, of a hole in one of the life boats, and one life boat lowered by passengers alone.

Quiroz Again a Witness.
Carlos Quiroz, chancellor of the Argentine embassy and one of the rescued passengers, was the star witness. At 7:30 p. m. Sunday he sent a message to Capt. Carey asking that he be transferred to the Voltair as soon as she came in sight, and at that time he thought that "any person with common sense would send for help."

He also told of three warnings not to sail on the Vestris. Three persons had told him the "Vestris was the poorest boat running to South America," and that she had a list. The last word from one of them was: "Don't forget, I warned you about the old tub."

Quiroz said he saw a hole in life boat No. 8, and that "it looked to him like an old hole."

Woman Doctor Improves in Fight for Her Life.
A slight improvement in the condition of Dr. Helen Catherine Hayden, young physician at the county hospital who contracted spinal meningitis from two of her patients on Sunday, was reported last night. The young woman's associates are fighting for her life with injections of serum in her spinal column and at the base of the brain. She is being attended by Dr. Frederick Ties and Dr. Richard Livendahl and constantly at her bedside are Dr. Leona Bayer and Dr. Gertrude Engring.

VIRGIL LITZINGER SURRENDERS TO U. S. INSPECTOR

the Glynn murder charges, though he said it was likely that the government's case would take precedence.

A picture of Litzinger was identified by witnesses of the recent $5,000 robbery at the Chicago theater, Lake and State streets, but they failed to identify him yesterday at the detective bureau.

More than two years ago police began searching for Litzinger for bond forfeiture in connection with numerous election frauds and the stealing of ballot boxes. These cases may now be reopened by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, it is thought. Litzinger, who is a nephew of E. R. Litzinger, member of the board of review, today will face several robbery charges which have partly identified him through photographs.

With Litzinger in custody, only one other suspect for the mail robbery remains at large. He is John Flannery, reputed pal of Midget Fennell.

Charles (Limpy) Cleaver, leader of the gang which boarded a Grand Trunk train at Evergreen Park, dynamited a small car door, overpowered the guards, and escaped with a rich haul of loot, is now serving a sentence in Leavenworth penitentiary.

Attorney Charles S. Wharton, who was convicted of permitting the handle to hide their loot in the basement of his bungalow in Beverly Hills, is preparing to appeal to the United States Court of Appeals.

Three members of the gang in addition to Cleaver are serving penitentiary sentences: William Donovan, sentenced to serve 8 years, and Lawrence O'Brien and Frank Meccia sentenced to ten years each. They implicated Litzinger in the robbery.

FRAUD LOSSES AS GREAT AS TAXES, CREDIT MEN TOLD

American business loses as much annually through fraud as it pays to the federal government in corporation taxes, Dr. Stephen L. Miller, executive secretary of the National Association of Credit Men told the Illinois and Missouri credit executives at the 32d annual Thanksgiving banquet of the Chicago Association of Credit Men at the Hotel La Salle.

"Credit frauds, stock frauds and insurance frauds cost in the neighborhood of one billion dollars in 1927," Dr. Miller said. "Add to that the toll of a dozen lesser kinds of commercial stealing, the cost of credit insurance and other losses indirectly due to frauds, and the total probably exceeded the $1,368,012,631 paid as corporation income taxes in 1927."

"One wonders if business couldn't save more by vigorous, united measures to cut down its fraud losses than it can hope to save by further reduction of federal taxes."

DETECTIVES MISS SALTIS, BUT SEIZE 3 OTHERS IN RAID

Police Capt. William Schoemaker and a detective squad raided the Nineteenth Hole, a roadhouse at 95th street and Keane avenue last night, on a tip that the fugitive beer boss, Joe Saltis, was in conference there with his henchmen.

The raiders seized three men, alleged to be Saltis beer henchmen, but the boss, if he had been in their midst, departed before the detectives arrived. The arrested trio are Nick Kramer, Charles Jaki and William Niemoth. They insisted they had not seen Saltis for weeks.

Saltis was convicted six months ago of gun totting and sentenced to serve sixty days in the Bridewell. He was pronounced a fugitive 185 days ago, and has since managed to dodge arrest, and direct his bootleg enterprises in and out of Chicago.

500 WISCONSIN M. D.'S MAY LOSE LIQUOR PERMITS

Madison, Wis., Nov. 21.—(AP)—Five hundred Wisconsin doctors may have their federal licenses to sell alcohol and issue liquor permits revoked because they have failed to comply with Wisconsin regulations, W. Dixon, state prohibition commissioner, announced today.

Mr. Dixon pointed out that in order to handle liquor in Wisconsin a physician must have both a federal and a state permit. The state has no license issued about 1,900 of these state licenses and Commissioner Dixon estimates that there are about five hundred federal licenses holders in the state who have not obtained a state license.

Commissioner Dixon has now presented his problem to the federal prohibition office and he has been informed that the federal department will cancel all federal permits to physicians who fail to live up to the state licensing requirements.

RAIDERS FAIL TO FIND LIQUOR NEAR SCHOOL

Judge Defends Moral City's Youth.

The campaign against rum has been sold liquor to high school students was continued yesterday, but other authorities, including the police, would not cure the situation, but one that has existed for several years. They said a school would not cure the situation, but one that has existed for several years.

"High school pupils are more than they were a few years ago," declared Judge Francis Smith, before whom 20,000 boys when he was boys' court judge. Prohibition has made it for a youth to get liquor. It is the tough element, young men who have avoided school, who go to these gin joints.

No Results in Raid.
Police made some raids with no results. The Woodstock yesterday night received reports that youths, as students from Hyde Park High were seen with liquor in the school drug store at 53d street and Island avenues. Plain clothes rushed to the place and found students at lunch.

The detectives made a search for liquor. Nothing was for the boys in the store denied students had been in with liquor. Morris Stinson, owner of a drug store at 53d street and 1961 North Clark street, was arrested as a juvenile in a raid by Immersion, as part of the campaign against selling liquor to school boys charged when they were arrested Judge Peter H. DRINKERS FAIL TO FIND LIQUOR NEAR SCHOOLS

Judge Defends Morals of City's Youth.

The campaign against resorts alleged to have sold liquor to high school pupils was continued yesterday by Judge Francis B. Allen, who presided over the trial of the case. The state has no law prohibiting the sale of liquor to minors, but the judge said that the sale of liquor to minors is a matter of public policy and that the courts should enforce it. He said that the sale of liquor to minors is a matter of public policy and that the courts should enforce it. He said that the sale of liquor to minors is a matter of public policy and that the courts should enforce it.

No Results in Raids.

Poll made some raids yesterday with no results. The Woodlawn station yesterday noon received a telephone report that youths, apparently students from Hyde Park High school, were seen with liquor in the Economy drug store at 534 street and Stony Island avenue. Plain clothes men rushed to the place and found a score of students at lunch.

The detectives made a search of the store and of every one in the place for liquor. Nothing was found. All the boys in the store denied that any students had been in with liquor. Morris Sitten, owner of a cigar store and alleged gambling resort at 1041 North Clark street, and twelve others arrested as inmates Tuesday night in a raid by the summer police as part of the campaign against places selling liquor to school boys were discharged when they were arraigned before Judge Peter H. Schwab in the Town Hall court.

All Over School Age.

All of those taken in the raid were well over school age, the police pointed out, and they were engaged in a friendly poker game when the raid was made. No liquor was found and none of the men had ever been arrested before. They were discharged with a warning.

Debate Issue in Council.

The city council debated for an hour and a half about what was termed the "disastrous situation." Three resolutions were proposed by aldermen. One called for the appointment of special police in each district to investigate drinking resorts near schools, another asserted that all soft drink parlors in the vicinity of schools be closed immediately, the third asserted that the Volstead act should be repealed.

After much argument it was suggested that all the resolutions be referred to the judiciary committee. This was done.

The school investigation has had a beneficial effect upon the general enforcement of prohibition in the city, it was learned. Saloonkeepers were warned that the 1 a. m. closing law must be observed.

CANADA LIMITS RUM SHIPS TO 10 WINDSOR DOCKS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 21.—The question of the ethics of Canada in exporting liquor into the dry United States was sidetracked and left over for the Canadian parliament to deal with by the rum conference, which ended its meetings here tonight. Liquor export being legal under Canadian law, it was said, no other power but parliament could change that situation.

However, the conference, in which William Euler, Canadian customs minister, and Sir Henry Drayton, Ontario liquor board chief, were the chief participants, announced drastic steps to secure governmental control of the whole booze business along the Windsor border. Of the fifty different liquor docks on the Windsor water front, all but ten are to be wiped out and liquor clearances hereafter must be made under the eyes of Canadian customs officers. Federal and provincial police officers will police the docks. Those steps were ordered to stop short-cutting of export liquor into illegal channels in Canada.

Mr. Euler insisted there was no discussion at the conference of the United States-Canadian rum treaty. He denied the accuracy of statements by United States officials at Detroit that lists of clearances of liquor ships sent to them from Windsor were incorrect, days late, and had now ceased altogether.

Asked if any consideration was given to curbing shipments to the United States, he replied: "Such shipments are perfectly legal from our standpoint. It is not for us to decide the law, but to administer it. Any change in the treaty will have to be made by the dominion parliament."

INDICT TWO FOR ALLEGED PLOT TO BLACKMAIL OLIN

True bills charging Thomas M. Gonzalez, a telephone engineer, and Henry M. Day, a private detective, with conspiracy to extort money from Louis B. Olin, wealthy president of the Goldenrod Ice Cream company, were voted by the grand jury yesterday. Evidence of the alleged blackmail plot was presented by Assistant State's Attorney Joseph Nicolai and Edward J. Spiro.

Mrs. Ruby Green Gonzales, the 21 year old blonde wife of the defendant, was one of the main witnesses. She said she had only a casual acquaintance with Olin and branded as untrue her husband's charges that Olin had given her presents and paid for a trip to Yellowstone park. She also denied that she ever kept a diary. Olin charges that the $250,000 alienation suit filed against him by Gonzales is an attempt to blackmail him.

BROKER'S WILL LEAVES $12,500 TO 3 CHARITIES

The will of John, Howard Jones, widely known La Salle street broker, who died on Nov. 7, was filed yesterday before Edward S. Scheffler, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner. The estate is estimated at $175,000.

The Home for Destitute Crippled Children and the Children's Memorial hospital are left $5,000 each, and the British Old People's Home of Chicago is bequeathed $2,500. The Art Institute is given a painting by J. Francis Murphy and Mr. Jones' collection of Japanese ivories, bronzes, porcelains and wood carvings.

A trust fund of $50,000 is created for the benefit of his adopted son, John David Jones, 8 years old, and another fund of $40,000 is established for the benefit of the deceased's sister, Mrs. Martha S. Symington, 4422 Ellis avenue. Two other sisters, Mrs. Henrietta J. Le Vally of 4434 Ellis avenue and Mrs. Lillian S. Baldwin of Blount, N. C., share the residue.

Our reason. Merciolized War is an strongest recommendation is that it really takes the place of several different remedies, saving time and expense. As the great germicide, it kills the old, fast or discolored muck, the new skin gradually appears clearer, softer, healthier and more youthful. There's nothing better to remove our sallowness, pimples or blackheads. Mer-ciolized War brings out the hidden beauty. It keeps the complexion

TWO ALDERMEN ASSAIL FAHERTY BEFORE COUNCIL

Public Has Lost Confidence, Arvey Declares.

Hostility to Michael J. Faherty, head of the board of local improvements, was bound issues were defeated Nov. 17 when two aldermen, Jacob M. Ryan (24th) and Patrick H. Ryan (25th), attacked him and his board on the issue of paving activities.

The public has lost confidence in Mr. Faherty, Arvey declared, citing the board's failure to pass the proposed ordinance for the administration of the local improvements.

Mr. Arvey's charges came at the close of a debate over the proposed ordinance for the administration of the local improvements.

At a public hearing two weeks ago Mr. Faherty gave the protests of a delegation of property owners, and the board passed the ordinance in spite of them. The council referred the ordinance to its judiciary committee.

"I am informed that Mr. Faherty is in the habit of ruling on contracts

GEN. M'INTYRE GIVES OPTIMISTIC REPORT ON THE PHILIPPINES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—(Special.)—An optimistic report on conditions in the Philippines was handed to Secretary of War Davis today by Maj. Gen. Frank McIntyre, chief of the bureau of insular affairs.

"This has been an excellent year for the Philippine government and the Philippine people," Gen. McIntyre said. "The finances are in excellent condition, public order is good, the conditions of health and sanitation have steadily improved, and the statistics of production and trade bear evidence of continued progress. The general interest of the people in educational progress is still maintained."

by the gavel," Ald. Arvey said. "Wishes of the property owners are supposed to prevail, but he ignores them. The people have lost confidence in his decisions."

Then, speaking directly to Mayor Thompson, he added: "You and I, Mr. Mayor, are elected and on trial at the ballot box. But the voters can't get at an appointed official. It is your responsibility and mine to act for them."

Ald. Ryan's attack came a few minutes later in the form of a resolution referring to the conspiracy suits brought against the improvements board on paving contracts and directing the judiciary committee to investigate charges that prices are high, competitive bidding eliminated, and paving inadequate.

ALDERMEN KILL CALUMET HARBOR PROJECT; BURY IT

Mayor's Plan, 40-4; Emphasize Death.

Thompson's plan to die an annual harbor in Lake Calumet, a year and a half of delays, was killed yesterday, with the help of the mayor's supporters.

000, which was to have paid for a start on the work. The repeal ordinance means that the county treasurer will not turn any of the money over to the city. No harbor funds from any other source are available.
Mayor Thompson, it was understood, will sign the repeal ordinance.

Emphasize Plan's Death.
The aldermen then emphasized the death of the plan by voting, 33 to 13, against a resolution pledging the city to dig the harbor along the lines advocated by Mr. Thompson next year or when the financial difficulties are removed.

Yesterday's action came as a blow to the South Chicago organizations which, depending on the mayor's promise, have been boosting his plan. It hit especially the mayor's Lakes Calumet harbor citizens' committee. Maj. Henry W. Lee, chairman of the committee, had written the mayor a letter urging him to use his influence against the repeal ordinance. To pass it, Maj. Lee said, would be "disaster on the eve of success."

Ald. John Clark, chairman of the council finance committee, who sponsored the repeal, explained that under the July law the $1,300,000 tax comes within the city's $1,124 tax limit and the amount, if levied, would be subtracted from the corporate fund, which already has a deficit of $3,000, 000 to $3,000,000.

Chose to Avert Deficit.
The administration thus had to choose between death to the harbor and an added $1,300,000 corporate fund deficit at the end of the year. Mayor Thompson chose to abandon the harbor and avert the deficit, his council followers explained.

Ald. William A. Rowan [16th] and Ald. Sheldon Govier [9th], the two South Chicago aldermen, led a futile fight to prevent the passage of the repeal ordinance.

The knockout of the tax levy ordinance, and hence all hope of starting the harbor this year, throws the harbor problem back into the lap of the state legislature. At the January session, it was learned, the Thompson forces intend to ask for new legislation amending the July law to put the tax outside the $1,124 limit and eliminating certain lease clauses in the harbor act.

BONES OF GIANT ANIMAL OF GOBI ON WAY TO U. S.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Stories of giant prehistoric animals which roamed in the Gobi desert in Mongolia millions of years ago were told here today by Roy Chapman Andrews, American explorer, who is on his way home to present his huge cargo of specimens to the American Museum of Natural History. The majority of specimens were shipped from Peking via the Panama canal.

"Bones of a gigantic animal which is larger than any known to have existed are probably the most valuable find of this trip," Mr. Andrews said.

"These will be assembled in America, but I am anxious to make another trip next year in order to bring out the complete skeleton which I left behind carefully concealed. The skeleton is about twenty-five feet long and twenty-six feet high, including a twelve foot neck. The animal ate trees. It was strictly vegetarian."

DEATH OF BEAUTY SHOP OWNER PUT UP TO GRAND JURY

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—The story of the murder of pretty Genevieve Stulta, Mishawaka beauty shop owner, who was the victim of the $50 murder last March, was told to the Elkhart grand jury today by Joseph Bartonek, South Bend druggist and brother-in-law of the slain woman.

When he went into the grand jury room he carried with him the diaries and packets of love letters left by Mrs. Stulta in her apartment when she left on the automobile ride which led her to the lime pile near Elkhart where she was killed by two bullets fired into her breast and a blunt instrument which crushed her skull.

Others appearing before the grand jury were Erwin Bartness of La Porte, Ind.; A. H. Radke and Ernest Lay, South Bend and La Porte jewelers, and Mrs. Anna Echowald, mother of Mrs. Stulta.

DEMOCRATS TALK OF A COMMITTEE TO GIVE OUT JOBS

Patronage Places.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Democratic leaders discussed last night the creation of an employment committee to handle the distribution of jobs in the four big county offices they will take over next month—sheriff, recorder, and superior or court clerk. The newly elected Democratic county officers were present at a meeting of the county executive committee in the Hotel Sherman and one main topic was the formation of a body to pass on the qualifications of applicants for positions.

When the new officials go in, the Democratic party will occupy the strongest position it has held in the county building in many a year. Some of the headquarters experts have figured that between 1,200 and 1,500 places were brought under Democratic control by the recent election. The officials elect, however, are averse to any precipitate shakings that might impair efficiency of operation in their offices. Clayton F. Smith, recorder elect, says he does not contemplate any changes among the key employes in his office until after the Christmas holidays.

Dead-end Situation Unchanged.
Negotiations over reorganization of the sanitary district on Dec. 3 remained in statu quo. The day brought no further conferences between the Democrats, the Denen Republicans and the Thompson Republicans.

The four Democratic trustees—Ross A. Woodhull, James M. Whalen, Henry A. Berger, and John J. Touhy—reiterated their view that the logical sequence to the election, in which the voters overruled the Crowe-Thompson machine, lies in a combination of the Democrats and the two Denen trustees, Howard W. Elmore and Frank J. Link, to organize the board on a nonpartisan basis.

The three holdover Thompson trustees, L. F. King, A. W. Miller, and John K. Lawler, repeated their argument that the board will have five Republicans, enough to control, and that to maintain party regularity the Denen men should combine with them to organize the board on a Republican basis.

Issue Out for Minority Leader.

Announcement by State Representative Michael L. Igou of the Hyde Park district that he is a candidate for minority leader in the next house led to activities in his behalf. The Democrats have sixty-two members of the house in the next general assembly, which will meet on Jan. 9. Cook county has 57 and 55 are from downstate. Representatives Arthur Roe of Vandallia and John P. Devine of Dixon are expected to be candidates.

Among the Republicans, it seems to be taken for granted that if David E. Shanahan wants to be speaker he will have little difficulty in getting the position.

Woman's Leap Death Leap

Laid to Temporary Insanity

Miss Noble May, killed in a plunge from the tenth floor of the Hotel La Salle on Tuesday, committed suicide while temporarily insane, a coroner's jury decided yesterday at the inquest. Her sister, Miss Lucinda May, 8 West Oak street, was a witness before the jury. Both sisters were war workers in England and France during the world war.

CHINESE TAX ON FLOUR AROUSES IRE OF POWERS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PEKING, Nov. 21.—The consulate of the big powers at Tientsin are preparing a protest against the assessment of a consumption tax of 10 per cent upon flour, asserting such a tax violates treaties. Importers, who contend the tax is payable by consumers, face Chinese orders forbidding the clearance of ships until the charges are paid. Banks have assumed the bills of lading in some cases to prevent the ships being tied up.

Cargoes, chiefly from the United States and Canada, steadily are arriving and bank advances to cover the taxes are reaching a large sum. However, the importers, acting on instructions of the legations, continue to refuse payment of the tax, asserting it is wholly a domestic question, and collectable from the consumer.

Another matter causing merchants much worry concerns Chinese tariff autonomy, effective Jan. 1. No notice has been given the importers regarding cargoes on route, which were purchased on the basis of the existing tariff. The proposed tariff rates still remain unpublished and unclassified, although it is known they divide commodities into seven grades, with a maximum rate of 70 per cent. The latter is expected to cover chiefly luxuries, wines, and perfumes.

RODENT LIVES WITH GUN.

Dependent because he had been unable to find work, John Lucena, 22 years old, 10541 Hixie avenue, went into a wood shed at the rear of his home yesterday and shot and killed himself.

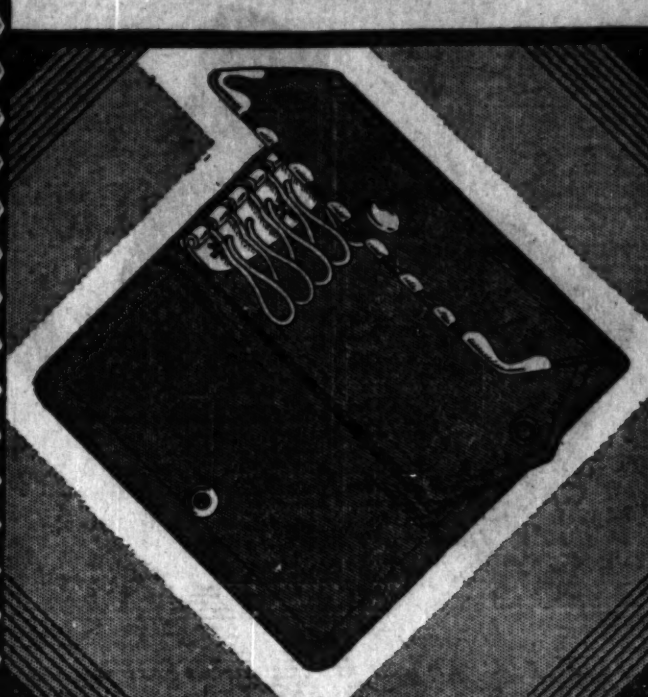

Council Asked to Ban Parking on Uptown Streets

Ald. John Maassen (48th) yesterday introduced in the city council an ordinance to ban automobile parking on Broadway, Lawrence avenue, and Wilson avenue in the Uptown district between 8 and 9:30 a. m. A total of ten blocks is covered in the ordinance.

Ald. Maassen hopes by the morning parking ban to get rid of all day parkers who leave their cars at the curb at that time.

CRIMINAL COURT IS FAR BEHIND IN RACE WITH CRIME

List of Pending Cases Is Growing, Report Shows.

Though the Criminal Court is functioning more efficiently than it has in the past, the Chicago Crime Commission report shows that the docket is becoming more clogged each month. The report is a report on the work of the Criminal Court for the month of October, 1928, and is the first of a series of reports to be published by the commission.

The report shows that the number of cases pending in the Criminal Court on Oct. 1, 1928, was 1,441, as compared with 1,341 on Oct. 1, 1927. This shows an increase of 100 cases in one year. The report also shows that the number of cases disposed of in the Criminal Court for the month of October, 1928, was 1,341, as compared with 1,241 for the same month in 1927.

The report points out the widening gap between the number of cases pending in the Criminal Court and the number of cases disposed of. The report also points out the fact that the number of cases pending in the Criminal Court is increasing at a faster rate than the number of cases disposed of.

CERMAK GIVES UP YULE FUND; FINDS POLITICAL TAIN

Killing Off Christmas Spirit, He Says.

Politics has tainted the holiday charity of Christmas funds collected by public officials, President Anton J. Cermak of the county board asserted yesterday. He announced he has abandoned plans for a 1928 all Chicago Christmas fund, the annual enterprise formerly known as the "Paddy Carr" fund.

"After the death of County Treasurer Patrick J. Carr," said Mr. Cermak, "I was asked to continue his Christmas charity activities. Wholeheartedly, I accepted the task. But some good will brought ample donations and thousands of poor families of the county received holiday aid and cheer from the fund."

Tells About Complaints.
"In following years other public officials started similar Christmas funds. Some people began to call my enterprise the 'Democratic fund' and another the 'Republican fund.' Complaint after complaint came to me that solicitors were using political leverage to force donations."

"Politics became a consideration in both the collection and the distribution of the funds. Nothing could be more revolting to me than the injection of politics into a charitable enterprise. It kills the spirit of Christmas. My organization received just as much criticism in this respect as the others. I prefer to abandon plans for the 1928 fund."

The world knows this wonderful, trusted formula as Carter's Little Liver Pills. For several years this famous little, pure-white, sugar-coated pill has been used by millions to cure Constipation. Today they are the largest selling laxative pills in the world. Over 20,000,000 boxes have been sold. So easy and safe to take, their small size also permits graduated doses. If you are constipated, have sick headache, dizziness, nausea, indigestion, bad breath, try Carter's Little Liver Pills, the same prescription that your parents and grandparents praised—and the same price they paid. Druggists everywhere sell the famous, old red-wrapped container—4 pills for only 15 cents. Or, if you prefer, send name and address today for a free trial package. No free package at drugists. HOLD UP DINNER PARTY AT URBANA BANKER'S HOME

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 21.—(AP)—A dinner party at the residence of George W. Bussey, wealthy pioneer banker, was invaded by two holdup men tonight. The contribution to the robbers was $5 and a D. A. R. pin. Mr. Bussey's invitation to dinner was declined.

Entering from a porch through French windows, the robbers, masked with handkerchiefs, ordered them to put their hands on the table. Mr. Bussey's wallet was taken. In it was only $5.

"This is a pretty swell dump not to have anything in it," one of the intruders remarked.

Mr. Bussey asked the men if they would not stay for dinner. They declined politely and withdrew, adding the jeweled D. A. R. pin to their loot.

WORLD STANDS UNRULY BOY IN SCHOOL ROW

Three Teachers Quit
His Trade College.

Sudbury, Mass., Nov. 21.—A quarrel at the Wayside school, which is run by Mr. Ford for state wards, was reported today when it was learned that four teachers had resigned.

The trouble started last week when the instructors, Louis Mackell, Lawlor O'Connor, and a matron, Mrs. Thompson, asked Earl Boyer, 17, Wayside Inn representative, to resign. Boyer said, the teachers were "fired" because of the boy's attitude towards both them and his fellow students.

Ford Stands by Boy.
Mr. Ford took no action. Mr. Ford had a talk with Joe, who stood up with bullying, insubordination and other rule infractions. Mr. Ford said, however, as recounted by Boyer today, was to the effect that there were so many sterling qualities in the lad that rather than hurt his pride by turning him back to the school he should be allowed to continue his training.

The two instructors and the matron promptly handed in their resignations, and the five students were walked out.

Four Rebels Return.
They began struggling back within two or three days, and today

Parker Kovalevich was the only one missing. The others were reinstated after apologizing to Boyer.

Boyer said tonight: "We are going to stand behind Joe in this matter. It is a question of a boy's future against the moods of the teachers. Joe is aggressive, too much so in fact, but he is a forceful character, has never had the opportunity of other boys, and as a result does not know what to do when he is with them."

INQUEST ACQUITS POLICEMAN.
Justifiable homicide was the verdict returned yesterday in the killing of Giuseppe Aiello, 21 years old, a radio mechanic at 2157 McVicker avenue, who was shot Nov. 9 by Policeman Robert Anderson of the Crain station. Anderson testified that Aiello fought when he attempted to question him in front of a pool room at 6017 West Grand avenue.

PICK ROTHSTEIN SUSPECT; SPREAD PICTURES OF HIM

Police Act on Woman's Partial Identification.

New York, Nov. 21.—(Special.)—For the first time since they began their investigation into the shooting of Arnold Rothstein, the gambler, in the Park Central hotel on the night of Sunday, Nov. 4, the police today were on the direct trail of a suspect as the slayer.

Their quest began when Mrs. Ruth Keyes, a "free lance" cloak model of Chicago, partly identified a rogues' gallery picture of a local criminal as a man she had seen with George (Humphrey) McManus, a gambler, also sought in connection with the murder, in McManus' room in the hotel about four hours before Rothstein was shot.

Mrs. Keyes had readily identified a picture of McManus as the man who had introduced himself to her merely as "Mac" when she visited the room at 5 o'clock that evening, but in making a tentative identification of the rogues' gallery pictures of the other man she insisted she could not be positive until the police brought the suspect before her.

Spread Pictures of Suspects.
Satisfied that at last they had got on the trail of the slayer, detectives sent telegrams to the police of Detroit, St. Louis and Cleveland, cities of which the suspect was a frequent visitor, giving the fingerprints of the man and asking his immediate arrest. Orders also were given by Inspector Coughlin, head of the detective bureau, for thousands of copies of the pictures of McManus and the suspect to be printed for distribution to every member of the force in this city and to every police department throughout the country.

Mrs. Keyes, who has been sequestered in a hotel in the midtown district since her arrival here last Tuesday evening from Chicago, identified the pictures in the office of District Attorney Benton. She had been under questioning two hours, at the end of which the prosecutor announced that statements obtained from her and other witnesses whose identity was withheld had given the authorities "more important information today than we have had at any time since the police called me in on the Rothstein case."

Lay Crimes to Dead Man.
Three hours later Mrs. Keyes left his office, the district attorney revealed another development for the day, the importance of which, he intimated, would equal, if not overshadow

Carozzo Given Change of Venue on Gun Charge

Carozzo was taken into custody Sept. 24 on a concealed weapons charge. The case will next be called by Judge Fairbank on Dec. 17.

Fred Hanson, blonde Swedish pantryman of the ill-fated Steamer VESTRIS, which recently plunged to the bottom of the ocean 240 miles off the Virginia Capes, causing the death of 111 persons, took a photograph on the deck of the sinking ship just before she went down.

This picture is the most remarkable action photograph ever taken of a sea disaster—probably the only photograph ever taken aboard a sinking ship. It shows the mad rush of passengers and crew for the lifeboats just a few minutes before the sinking—life preservers on, FIGHTING DEATH! It shows the frantic efforts of men trying to escape from the doomed vessel. In their faces it expresses most graphically the FEAR which gripped everyone on board.

URGENT NEW USE TO BOOM CO

Experts Say By-Products

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 21.—The bituminous coal market for many years to come unless the industry develop new uses for its by-products was forebodingly stated by speakers at the second annual conference on bituminous coal at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Arthur D. Little and R. H. Schmidt, consulting chemists, Boston, Mass., emphasized the necessity for increased efficiency in the use of coal as a fuel, and if pursued with skill and financial resources may be expected to meet the demands of any normal expansion of industry without increase in supplies for many years.

"With careful attention to the balance of industrial heat requirements our present situation should supply roughly present heat and power," they said in a joint paper, "but with cutthroat competition an impossible burden on the demoralized coal consumers."

Experiments with pentane, which causes motor "knock," explained by Paul Dumanole, engineer of the French air force, M. Dumanole separated the individual chemicals, pentane and air together, what this element does in the motor.

He said that mixing pentane with tetraethyl reduced the violent explosion and presumably the tendency.

Pentane, he said, showed sides of the ledger in its troublesome carbon in engine temperatures and, however, it made carbon, others it left no trace.

Methods by which slack dusty coal, now virtually worthless, may be converted into excellent coke, crude oil and described in a paper by Josef Pliesman, director of the Technical Association of Germany.

The low quality coal, Mr. Pliesman said, is a by-product of the steel industry.

URGENT NEW USES TO BOOM COAL MARKET IN U. S.

Experts Say By-Products
Are Necessary.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 21.—(AP)—A secondary market for bituminous coal is years to come unless leaders of the industry develop new uses for coal and its by-products was forecast today by speakers at the second international conference on bituminous coal at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Arthur D. Little and R. V. Klein, consulting chemists of Cambridge, Mass., emphasized the fact that possibilities for improved efficiency in the use of coal are not exhausted, and, if pursued with technical skill and financial courage, they may be expected to meet requirements of any normal expansion of industry without increase in coal consumption for many years.

"With careful attention to the balance of industrial heat and power requirements our present coal production should supply roughly twice our present heat and power demands," they said in a joint paper.

"The bituminous coal industry, with its present lack of organization, presents a gloomy picture," they continued. "The situation is one in which cutthroat competition will not only destroy profits, but also throw an impossible burden on the miners, demoralize our coal consuming industries and waste that natural resource which the continuation of our prosperity is basically dependent."

Experiments with pentane—a chemical "imp" in the motorist's gasoline which causes motor "knocks"—was explained by Paul Dumanos, chief engineer of the French air service. Dumanos separated gasoline into its individual chemicals. He used pentane and air together to learn what this element does in an engine.

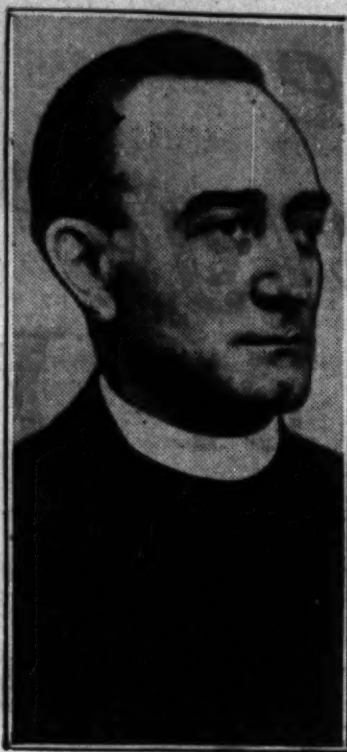

Cuts "Knock" Tendency.
He said that mixing pentane with kerosene reduced the violence of explosion and presumably the knock tendency.

Pentane, he said, showed up on both sides of the ledger in forming the troublesome carbon in engines. At same temperatures and pressures, however, it made carbon, while at others it left no trace.

Methods by which slack and fine, dusty coal, now virtually worthless on the market, may be converted into excellent coke, crude oil and gas were described in a paper prepared by Josef Pliesman, director of the Chemical-Technical association of Duisburg, Germany.

Describes French Anthracite.
How synthetic anthracite is made in France was described in a paper prepared by Paul Weiss, honorary director of mines in France.

The French anthracite is manufactured in neat black egg shapes out of coal dust by the "low temperature distillation" process.

A valuable use for poisonous carbon monoxide was forecast by Jean Delorme, director of the ammonia department of the Society "L'Air Liquide," Paris, France.

"Carbon monoxide," he said, "which has been hitherto considered as a catalyst poison," may even be considered as a valuable raw material. Through reaction with hydrogen it leads, for instance, to methyl alcohol, a form of denatured alcohol.

M. Delorme said ethylene from the new process may be used to manufacture anti-freeze mixtures and that a chemical known as methane soon will be promoted to the dignity of a raw material used perhaps in making synthetic fuel.

WAGE FIGHT ON BOULDER DAM IN FARM MEETING

Oppose Addition of More Agricultural Land.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—(Special.)—Protests against further reclamation expansion, such as the Boulder dam project, were voiced before two different agricultural groups today.

Dr. A. F. Woods, director of scientific work of the department of agriculture, in an address before the convention of the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, asserted that no new reclamation projects should be undertaken for a number of years. He condemned the interest-free policy which, under the Boulder dam bill, would be extended to water users who are charged with the cost of the proposed all-American canal.

No Need for More Farm Land.

"There is no need at present to develop more land for agricultural use," said Dr. Woods. "No new reclamation projects should be undertaken for a number of years. If the policy of federal reclamation is continued, the use of interest-free federal funds in promoting reclamation projects should be abandoned. It has been urged that the federal government extend its reclamation activities to drainage and clearing in the humid areas, but such activity is neither warranted nor necessary at the present time."

Opposition to the opening of new agricultural land through reclamation was expressed in the convention of the National Grange. Resolutions dealing with the subject were offered by George P. Harrison, master of the California State grange, and by Albert S. Goss, master of the Washington State grange.

A resolution offered by Mr. Harrison proposed a vehement protest against "any legislation which will, by use of public funds, add another acre to that already under cultivation." A resolution introduced by Mr. Goss urged the transfer of the bureau of reclamation from the department of the interior to the department of agriculture.

Oppose Boulder Dam Bill.

Discussions among members of the grange showed considerable opposition to the Boulder dam bill because of its reclamation feature and also strong opposition to the proposed Columbia basin reclamation project, which would involve an expenditure of approximately $60 million dollars. In connection with the Boulder dam situation there was speculation today as to whether the report of the Sibley commission of engineers and geologists showing that cost estimates of the engineers of the reclamation service are too low would cause a change in the administration position. President Coolidge advised congress last year that approval of the 125 million dollar project would not be in conflict with his financial program.

Put Cost Third Higher.
With the commission holding that the cost will be something like one-third again as much the President is likely to give new consideration to the effect on the treasury during the next few years. While the money would be expended gradually, any considerable increase in the cost would mean a greater initial appropriation. Opponents of the Boulder dam project fail to see how the government can possibly be reimbursed from power revenues within a period of 50 years if the cost is greater than estimated.

MAN, 62, KILLED BY FALL.
August Hoffman, 62 years old, died yesterday in the Lutheran Memorial hospital of injuries incurred several weeks ago when he fell down stairs in the home of his son-in-law, Eugene Bryan, 1008 Latham avenue, Oak Park. Bryan is Democratic committeeman of Oak Park.

Life looks rosy for him

Health worth more than fortune

THE baby to be envied is the one who is born with an inheritance of perfect health, to begin with. And who's lucky enough to have a mother who knows how to build up this fortune.

"Perhaps I'm old-fashioned," she'll say to the doctor who pronounces her child physically 100% at a baby show, "but this health certificate means more to me than all the stock certificates in the world. If my baby grows up strong and well, I'm willing to leave it to him to make a career and fortune for himself."

"Already I'm teaching him the value of regular habits. Regular sleep, regular meals, regular functions. He's never once been off schedule, not even when he was cutting teeth or traveling to the country. I make sure of that by giving him Nujol regularly. He has his own bottle in the nursery."

Nujol works so easily and naturally that it won't upset a baby under any conditions. It keeps everything functioning properly. It not only prevents any excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming but aids in their removal. It is safe and sure. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories, 26 Broadway, New York.

Just try Nujol for your baby. Give it to him regularly for the next three months. See if it doesn't make things much easier for both of you. See if he doesn't thrive on this new schedule—(children themselves much prefer living by regular routine.)

Heir to millions

Here's another thing: Nurses are advising mothers to give their babies an oil rub with Nujol after the daily bath, instead of using powder. Just saturate some cotton with Nujol and rub it gently all over your baby's body. It keeps him from getting chapped and chafed. And leaves his skin as soft and smooth as velvet. Use it when you change his clothes. Whenever his skin has been exposed to irritation.

A bottle of Nujol costs you no more than pink ribbons on the baby's bonnet. And it's worth a lot more to him! Try it. Certainly it could do no harm—for Nujol contains no drugs or medicines. Your druggist carries it. Be sure you get the genuine. Sold only in sealed packages, never in bulk.

"MOST DEPENDABLE REMEDY FOR BOILS"

VITAMIN EXPERT PRESCRIBES YEAST

Dr. Neuberg, Berlin University Authority, Advises Yeast for Mankind

BERLIN.—Announcements from leaders of the German medical profession indicate unusual interest here in the health advantages of fresh yeast. Some of the doctors who made public statements were:

DR. KURT HENIUS, Professor, University of Berlin; Lecturer in the Institute of Medicine of the University of Berlin; former physician to German royalty and Medical Director of the Kaiser-Wilhelm Hospital in Berlin; personal physician to one of Germany's great industrial magnates, Dr. Henius is one of the outstanding figures of German medicine to-day.

"Yeast has won its place in internal medicine and is variously prescribed. The active constituent of yeast is abundant vitamins, particularly the important vitamin B. Large amounts of ingested yeast per se may eliminate certain kinds of intestinal bacteria.

"Because of its vitamin content yeast is an effective remedy in general debility.

"In constipation intestinal yeast fermentation promotes peristalsis and easy elimination.

"Yeast is one of the most reliable remedies in furunculosis of the skin (boils), which is obviously frequently due to disturbed intestinal functioning."

PROF. DR. PAUL REYHER, Lecturer, University of Berlin, on vitamins, X-ray and Radiochemistry, Children's Hospital, Berlin, which he built and equipped. The Germans refer to this hospital as "the jewel box" because of its perfect appointments and beauty of structure. In connection with this hospital he maintains a dairy farm where the cows are carefully washed before being milked in dirt-proof rooms.

"The medicinal use of yeast is more many-sided than is generally assumed.

"Yeast abundantly contains the anti-neuritic vitamin B. . . This vitamin has a very and the activity of the functioning of the nervous system. It also stimulates the appetite, regulates metabolism, promotes growth, and finally increases bodily resistance to every kind of infection.

"There is simple remedy. This yeast contains a remarkable therapeutic factor."

PROF. DR. CARL NEUBERG, of Berlin; Director, Institute of Experimental Therapy and Bio-Chemistry at Berlin-Dahlem; Lecturer, University of Berlin, research scientist, author of many articles.

"Research work on yeast in all the civilized countries, America, England and Germany for the last 10 years has led to results remarkable in many respects.

"The indispensable factors to all life, the ferments, are present in yeast, equally manifold and equally powerful as in animal tissue.

"The new research on metabolism has proven that the fermentation and breathing of yeast and the activity of the human muscles are fundamentally the same.

"This yeast occupies a unique position and its scientific recognition justifies the long experience of physicians with it and its effectiveness as a popular home remedy. This recognition by science proves, too, that the employment of good yeast as a food may be useful in many ways for mankind."

Fleischmann Company Receives 62,439 letters about yeast.

In the last year alone, the Fleischmann Company received 62,439 letters telling what yeast had done for the writers. Fresh yeast for health has become a national health habit which promises great benefits many medical authorities say.

Danish Doctor Gives Yeast for All Unsightly Skin Infections

Dr. Ewald Ehlers Says Effect "Incontestable"—Vitamins Praised by Dr. Begtrup

COPENHAGEN.—Among those to stress the great value of yeast as a health food in recent interviews was an internationally known authority on skin disorders and a prominent nutrition expert. They commented as follows:

PROF. DR. EDVARD EHLERS, dermatologist of international fame; holds medical degrees from the Universities of Copenhagen, Strasbourg and Paris; chief physician, dermatological department, Municipal Hospital, Copenhagen; lecturer at the Academy of Medicine, Paris; decorated by many foreign governments for distinguished researches; beloved to his own country.

"It is many years since my teacher and friend, Dr. L. Brocq of Paris taught me to use fresh yeast for staphylococcal infections of the skin. Since then I have invariably prescribed yeast in all cases of boils, as well as in rebellious cases of acne. The effect of yeast upon boils is surprising and incontestable. It is often slightly laxative."

DR. ERIK BEGRUP, brilliant young Danish doctor specializing in dietetics and metabolism, who has attracted attention in Copenhagen by planning and cooking with his own hands model "balanced meals" to show his patients how to eat.

"To-day we know yeast is a container per excellence of the vitamins in greater amount than any other easily obtainable food. It is possible, therefore, to give the human organism a sufficient quantity of vitamin B when yeast is eaten daily."

THE GUMPS—CLAP HANDS—HERE COMES ANDY

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 21.—[Special.] Dartmouth went through its final practice today and left for Chicago and the Northwestern game shortly thereafter.

The last rite the football squad performed on Memorial field was the annual burning of the dummy. Capt. Dick Black lit the blaze and in a short space thanked his teammates, the scrubs and the coaches for the work of the season. He closed by saying:

"We are going out in my own territory. I live out there and we're going to give them everything we've got." After Black's talk the squad cheered the coaches, the scrubs, President Hopkins and their captains with loud "wah-hoo wahs."

Team Given Royal Send-off.

The whole college turned out to give the team a rousing send-off for its final game. The band was on hand and the cheer leaders led a riot of noise accompanied by the booming of the small cannon, which is a part of every Dartmouth celebration here.

The first team that ran through signals this afternoon had Longnecker at quarter back, Marsters and Brethuit at the halves, and Sutton at full back. Brethuit is being rushed into the half back breach again to make up for the loss of Shep Wolff, who was hurt in the Cornell game. It is a question which of the two is least injured. Both men are far below their usual speed, but conditions make it impossible to tell. It is thought that Sutton also is in bad shape but probably will play Saturday. McDonough and Harris, the regular quarters, are injured and Harris already has turned in his uniform.

The line men are in better condition, but the loss of Mike Sherman, veteran guard, is a serious one. Sherman, until he was injured, was one of the most dependable men in the Green forward wall. Bromberg, a sophomore, will be used in his place with Crehan in reserve.

Give Up Air Journey.
As a result of the plea of President Ernest Martin Hopkins, Coach Jess Hawley and Athletic Director Harry R. Henegane at the last moment gave up their proposed airplane flight and started for Chicago with the team. The president's plea created somewhat of a sensation, owing to the fact that President Hopkins pointed out that the double blow of losing both the game and the athletic lead-

Coach Hawley was chary of making predictions. "Well," he smiled, "I lost out on the airplane trip but perhaps I'll make it coming back. We are leaving for Chicago with a somewhat gripped outfit and while the atmosphere around here seems to predict a defeat, neither the boys nor I have any such idea.

"We may surprise the football world with this crippled outfit. Dartmouth will be there fighting every inch of the way. Every man, crippled or otherwise, will give every ounce there is in him and every Dartmouth man from wherever he may come will be mighty proud of the men fighting for the Green. We are going to give Northwestern a football game and one we hope they won't forget for awhile. Can I say more?"

The freshman team under the direction of Coach Sid Hazelton put some of the finishing touches on its preparations for its big game of the season with Lake Forest academy in Chicago on Friday. The Dartmouth teams will arrive in Chicago at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

NINE END CAREERS AT N. U.

Heading the list of those to be retired with honors is Capt. Walter Helmer, who has been the backbone of his team all season. The others are George Levison, Bert Fox, and John Acher, backs, and John Hazen, Harry Kent, Justin Dart, Tom Verdell, and Joe Spades, linemen.

Acher is confined to St. Luke's hospital, where he is fighting to regain his health after a shooting accident ten days ago.

Drill on Defense.

Every precaution was taken in the north shore camp last night to make the vaudelectric appearance of the night players a successful one. The night scrimmage of the week was held and a defensive to stop the vaunted fighters and Wolff was worked out. Offensively the Wildcats plan to show their forward passing combinations and Hulse Bruer's powerful f-tackle smash on their best base. Bruer has come to the front rapidly in the last two weeks and has lived up to all pre-season expectations. His work will be watched closely, for he is destined to be the mainstay about which the 1923 edition of the Wildcats will be fashioned.

BIG GREEN STARS

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

The forward pass, one of the most effective offensive weapons in football, should be the dominant factor in deciding the issue in the intersectional game on Saturday between Northwestern and Dartmouth at Evanston.

The Hanover eleven, which showed vast improvement in defeating Cornell last Saturday, 28 to 0, completed twenty-four forward passes out of thirty-eight attempts. Some of the tomes were thrown over the scrimmage line to criss-crossing offensive ends, while others were hurled down the field, with the receivers instructed to outrun the defensive players to the ball. Others were tossed into the flat zone, with the leadoff half back snaring the val after the end one his side had gone straight down the field.

Dartmouth Specializes in Passes.

As both elevens have been defeated and are hopelessly out of the running for the titles of their respective sections, both will resort to the air for most of their gains. Dartmouth always has been known as a passing team and one which will take chances, no matter where the ball rests on the gridiron. It was a forward pass hurled from the Dartmouth 35 yard line which paved the way for the Green's first touchdown against Cornell. Local fans remember vividly how Dartmouth hurled the ball against Chicago in 1925 to win, 33 to 7.

Fred Breithut, half back, is the passing ace of the team. Most of his passes are hurled to Marsters, one of the outstanding backs in the east last year, who has been handicapped by injuries this season. Wolf also is used in the rôle of passer, but in the majority of cases Marsters is on the receiving end.

In addition to the forward pass offense, Northwestern must be prepared to combat a hard running attack. Coach Jesse Hawley of Dartmouth will take advantage of Marsters' speed and dodging ability to send him off the tackles on cut back plays. The other backs will be sent into the line and around ends.

Northwestern is certain to take to the air. In Capt. Holmer the Purple has one of the best triple threat players in the western conference. The Northwestern leader can run, kick or pass. So far this season Holmer has thrown eighty-two forward passes, thirty-four of which were completed, for a total gain of 486 yards. Most Coach Hanley has planned numerous forward pass formations, but none can be executed successfully unless the Purple coach places more stress upon blocking. Northwestern was especially weak in tackling and block-

Northwestern must be alert at all times as Dartmouth may use spread ormations, which always are confusing to the defense. On such plays it is hard to spot the eligible receivers and practically every player who crosses the scrimmage line must be covered.

The Purple must play more aggressive football than it did last Saturday.

the tackling must be harder and more badly. When Chuck Bennett of Indiana ran 65 yards through the Purple st Saturday at least half a dozen northwestern players were in a posion to stop him, but the Purple boys did not extend themselves and Bennett tamped over the goal line for the

If the Purple plays as it did against Minnesota and the closing minutes of the Illinois game its supporters will have no cause for complaint.

VICTORIAN BEATS MISSTEP TO WIN BOWIE HANDICAP

Notables in Audience as Race Is Run.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 21.—(Special.)—With Charles Curtis, Vice President elect; Senator Means of Colorado, and an enthusiastic throng looking on, Harry Payne Whitney's Victorian won the Governor's Handicap here today, defeating Miststep and Black Maria in a three horse race. The Vice President elect is a former jockey and showed unusual interest in the program, going to the starter's box in the second race with Starter Milton and later visiting the stable.

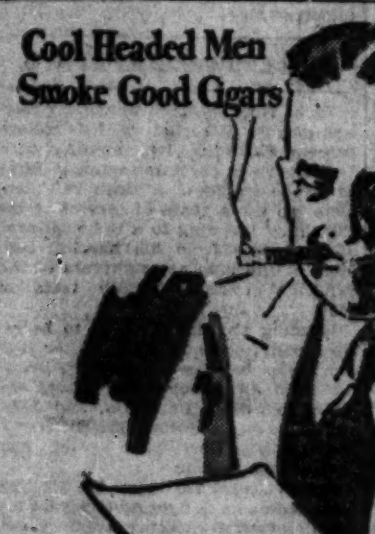

He witnessed the handicap from a box and saw Sonny Workman bring Victorian home under a hand-rail after he had to use the whip at the top of the stretch to stave off a determined challenge from Miststep, owned by the La Mar Stock farm. At the end Miststep was a tired horse and beaten a half-length, while Black Maria was a distant third.

The performance was regarded as a public trial for the Graduate of Bryan Memorial handicap and Victorian will go into the race well thought of, as he was timed in 1:48.4 under 120 pounds for the mile and a sixteenth today over a track that was way off at the beginning of the day but which had dried out considerably by the time the feature came up. The Bryan Memorial is at the same distance.

Prep Board to Reconsider Larkin Case

The eligibility of Capt. Jimmy Larkin of Tilden High school, who was barred by the board of control last week on the eve of the semi-final football game with Parker because he was over age, will be reconsidered this morning at a meeting in the office of E. C. Delaporte, director of athletics of the board of education.

Those present will be Benjamin Buck, assistant superintendent of schools; Willis Tower, district superintendent; Dean Bluge of Bowen M. F. High school; Schurz; Hugh Ray, Harrison; Richard Lawler, Waller; Ben Mosby, Phillips; T. L. Tronney, Bowen, and Ernest Willis, Marshall.

Members of the board of control ruling on the case are insistent that their ruling stand unless additional evidence proving Larkin's age to be 19 is introduced. School records show Larkin's age to be 20.

The board ruled that since an investigator was refused permission to see Larkin's baptismal record the school record would stand. There is no birth certificate available.

ALUMNI READY TO GREET FROTH OF DARTMOUTH

Walter McCornack, who learned his football at Englewood High school and afterward played on Dartmouth eleven, will be among the group of loyal alumni who will welcome the Dartmouth freshmen eleven to Chicago today. The first year team of the Hanover university is scheduled to meet the undefeated Lake Forest eleven on Soldiers' field tomorrow afternoon.

After he finished his playing days McCornack coached at Dartmouth. He will be better remembered as a Northwestern university coach and prominent Western conference official of twenty years ago.

The Dartmouth freshmen eleven, its coaches, trainers, and managers will make their headquarters at the Stevens hotel, where Dartmouth alumni will hold their annual powwow tomorrow and Saturday. The first year team will be sent through signal drill at the stadium field this afternoon.

The Lake Forest eleven, coached by Ralph Jones, who turned out many successful basketball teams at Illinois, is undefeated this year.

Rangers, World Champions, Meet Hawks Here Tonight

BY HARLAND ROHM.

The world's champion New York Rangers hockey team, winners of the Stanley cup in a sensational playoff last March, swing into action on the Chicago Blackhawks' ice at the Coliseum tonight with the intention of accomplishing the Hawks' fourth straight defeat. Indications are all in favor of the Rangers grabbing the long end of the score, but upsets are not without precedent.

Except for two changes, the Rangers have the same team which won the championship last year. They acquired Keelling, a fast spare wing, but the most important was the trade of Lorne Chabot, goalie, for John Ross Roach, an acrobatic goal tender.

Two Hawks' in Defense.
In front of the active Roach is the famed "best defense in hockey," Smiling Ching Johnson and Taffey Abel. One of them weighs 118 and the other 217. Both are tall, powerful men, capable of sending a light forward spinning with a body check, and together they form a line of defense as solid as Roach's is a mobile.

The Rangers' attacking line remains the same, the Cook brothers—Bill and Bunny—at wings, and Frank Boucher, another of those names often repeated in hockey because of the number of brothers playing, at center. Of the spurs the one to draw the most attention so far is Myles Lane, formerly Dartmouth half back, the receiving end of that famed Overlander to Lane passing combination on the gridiron. Lane, reputed to be the best American hockey player developed since Hober Baker, likely will get a chance to do his stuff at one of the defense posts.

Hawks Have Double Drill.
In anticipation of the Rangers' power, the Blackhawks took both morning and afternoon workouts yesterday, with Capt. Dick Irvin coaching the young forwards and Manager Herbert Gardner, one of the best defense men ever to play major league hockey, drilling the defense. Lineup:

The original stockholders, headed by John R. Thompson Jr., were trying to unravel the financial situation left them by H. D. Brown, the promoter and builder, and it was reported another group, possibly connected with the American Turf association, was willing to take the track over.

In the meantime General Manager Frank J. Brun announced there would be no developments on the Arlington park situation for another week.

Bill Wernicka Beats Marino, 2,486 to 2,480
Bill Wernicka averaged 207 pins for 12 games and beat Hank Marino in their Chicago All Star bowling league match at the Randolph alley last night, 2,486 to 2,480. It required 12 games to decide the match. At 3 o'clock this afternoon Adolph Carlson meets Bill Brennan.

Mallard Skis to Safety, but Dog Finds It

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Morris, Ill., Nov. 21.—The bucking pintail have been with us this morning. The presence of these two interesting types down here on Frank Collins' prairie ponds has added a little spice to our duck hunting, as both involved surprises.

The bucking mallard came in just like any other green head. It stuck out its feet, concealed its wings against the northeast wind and dropped toward the water in dandy style. As soon as it was in range R. it gave it his right barrel. The bird was hit and we expected to see it drop. However, Mr. Greenhead bucked and careered over the rushes and headed for the prairie as unsteady as a wild broncho with the first missile on its back. No number six shot from our duck boat could stop it. Finally the bird dropped to the prairie fully 300 yards from our blind in the rushes.

It looked like a lost bird. But late in the afternoon Queen, Frank Collins' Irish water spaniel, was put on the trail of this wild mallard while we picked up around the pond. Queen struck up the scent of the duck and in less than a minute found it.

The sky climbing pintail, the only pintail which decoyed all morning, dropped out of the sky just after R. R. had walloped a mallard so that it fell in the center of the decoy pen, an ideal location, as recovery involved no hunt in tall rushes. This pintail looked easy, but the way it pointed its nose skyward and reached for the clouds in spite of the wham of the shotgun was a revelation. The duck looked as if it were about to be lost in the blur of snowflakes when a charge of number 6 soaked it squarely and down came the pintail with a loud splash.

Yale-Harvard Fail to Stir Easterners

Chicago, the present Harvard coach, will become an ex-coach of Harvard at the conclusion of his third season about sundown Saturday afternoon. Mr. Bingham's statement is a summary of various interpretations. It will be generally interpreted to mean that if Harvard wins, Mr. Bingham will be a great coach and his departure will be a great loss to the university. In accordance with the theory of their own that an opponent is not a genuine rival unless he is a genuine rival, and that even Harvard's friendship and understanding.

And, incidentally, the football team under Mr. Horvath has reached a stage of development from which it seems likely at any time to enter into that dominance over Yale which is all that Harvard people ever want of a football team.

WHAT ARE UPSETS?
THE word "upset," as commonly used in football, is a misnomer. Originally it meant an unexpected victory similar to when a 10 to 1 shot at a race track defeated a field in which there was an odds-on choice. Of late, because it is a short word and fits nicely into headlines, upset is applied when the team favored by a majority of critics is overturned. That is now its accepted use.

Michigan Plans Line Shakeup for Iowa Tilt

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 21. (Special.)—More juggling of the Michigan line to meet the ponderous Hawkeye forward wall took place at the Wolverine camp today. Outweighed from tackle to tackle, Coach Wieman acquiesced to the fact willingly, but planned to redistribute the aces in his line so as to combat the Iowa team more successfully.

OHIO SHIFTS LINEUP
Columbus, O., Nov. 21. (Special.)—A revised Ohio State football team will start in the season's finale against Illinois at Champaign Saturday.

RISE IN CORN LEADS ADVANCE IN OTHER GRAINS

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Light receipts increased outside interest in corn, and short covering helped to advance values. March and May sold at a new high on the crop. While there was profit taking and selling against the finish, the finish was at the top with net gains of 1/4¢ to 1/2¢. December at 87 1/2¢ leading and 1/2¢ higher than May. Wheat was strengthened by the action of corn. There was short covering of December wheat and the close at 11 1/2¢ was 1/4¢ higher for wheat, while oats were up 1/4¢ for the day, with March at 47¢ and May at 47 1/2¢, new highs for the season. Rye showed a net gain of 1/4¢ to 1/2¢. It was apparent from the start that there was relatively little pressure on the corn market. The buying was persistent, with commission houses taking more interest. The small arrivals, 94 cars, in the face of the better weather conditions attracted considerable attention. While the light traders were busy to fight the advance for a time, there was general short covering later. Closing of spreads between the December and the March helped to narrow the difference. Europe was reported to have canceled 100,000 to 200,000 bu corn at the seaboard as the result of the upturn, but the trade did not have that information until after the market had closed.

Cash Offerings Larger.
Local sentiment was more favorable to the buying side of corn on the way up. Country offerings were not large, considering the advance, with 65,000 bu booked to come here. Western cash markets were firmer, but at Minneapolis the basis was weak, with No. 4 yellow 1/2¢ under Chicago December. Buenos Aires May corn, representing the new crop, closed at 85 1/2¢, or 1/2¢ under Chicago. Wheat prices were fractionally lower early, but the expected liquidation in the December failed to develop. Shorts took profit and prices advanced readily, with the strength in corn having some effect. Cash interest bought December early at 7 1/2¢ under May, and later there was spreading at 7 1/2¢. There was nothing in the day's news to account for the upturn. Winnipeg closed 1/2¢ lower to 1/4¢ higher, the former on November. Cash basis there was 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ lower, as compared with the future. It is expected that 50,000,000 bu wheat will be shipped east from the head of the lakes before the close of navigation.

Export demand for wheat at the seaboard was reported as slow, and Winnipeg also claimed the inquiry was light. Rains were reported in northern Argentina, but Buenos Aires and Rosario failed to show any uneasiness and both closed unchanged for the day.

New High on Oats.
Oats showed more activity and prices were on the upgrade from the start. Cash and commission houses bought December and sold May at 40 1/2¢ difference, while longs were the principal sellers of the December. Rye advanced in sympathy with wheat, although there was fair commission house buying of May. Cash basis was 1/2¢ lower, with Minnesota No. 2 selling at 46 1/2¢ over December. No export business was reported at the seaboard.

New York, Nov. 21. (Special).—The bull market in Wall Street struck a snag today. For the first time since the election, a decline of good sized proportions developed and the sight of rapidly moving quotations so alarmed the timid, new crop of speculators that they dumped overboard regardless of price in the final hour of trading.

It was a short, swift, but brutal reaction, and it developed within a few minutes. It was over in a few minutes, for after their quick dip, prices rallied at the close.

Tardy Ticker Causes Chase.

The day was one in which confusion and chaos reigned supreme, because of the tardy ticker, which gave traders only a vague idea of where they stood. It was another day in which the trading was on a treacherous scale, and speculators that they dumped overboard regardless of price in the final hour of trading.

But the day was not without its bullish developments. A stock exchange record was set today, with a gain of $30,000 from the last previous sale. It was also announced that the ticker, starting tomorrow, will eliminate all sales volume from the introduction of new issues, in order to keep up with the traffic in stocks which has developed since the election.

The market ran along fairly evenly until 2:30 o'clock. Radio, one of the speculative "blue chips," started to give ground. It shrank visibly, and this appeared to send a shiver of fear through the entire market. Bears who had been hammering away at the market all day in the endeavor to get it started downward redoubled their efforts.

Little Fellows Scarp.

At the first signs of a break the little speculators in all parts of the country started to sell "at the market." These orders, which in some volume, brought a swift break. Bears who had been backed away and allowed their stocks to drift with the tide of reaction; practically all organized support was withdrawn for the space of a few minutes.

Then the "stop loss" orders began to be touched off, and as these became orders to sell "at the market," they added greatly to the confusion all day long.

Radio, which earlier in the day had sold at 37 1/2, dropped almost precipitously to 34 1/2, then recovered to 36 1/2, and finally closed at 37 1/2, which had been the level between 21 1/2 and 22 1/2, dropped sharply to 20 1/2.

Montgomery Ward, which had touched 41 1/2 in the earlier trading, declined to 39 1/2, then recovered to 40 1/2, and finally closed at 41 1/2, which had been the level between 21 1/2 and 22 1/2, dropped sharply to 20 1/2.

Just what brought about the sudden turn in the market was the question of much discussion, while forces of exchange firms were attempting to clean up the debris of the third most active day on record.

Sharp Rally at Close.

The opinion in professional circles was that the market had worked into an overbought condition. The reaction was not allowed to run its course, and there was a sharp rally at the close. It was Radio, which appears the bell wether of the present market, which started the upturn as well as the downturn. The closing tone was very irregular, with many issues continuing to show traces of weakness.

The statistical record of the market showed the largest decline which has occurred since the election. It amounted to 2.66 for the combined average of 50 representative stocks, and declines being 1.40 for railroad issues and 3.84 for the industrials.

Daily Average 5 Million Shares.

Since the election, which gave the market its greatest impetus, there have been three 6,000,000 share days, five days on which the trading was above 5,000,000 shares and only two, the trading is only two hours below the 5,000,000 share mark. In these 13 trading days the total volume of sales on the exchange has aggregated 51,319,716 shares, an average of 5,131,972 shares per day. At the same time, the average of 50 representative stocks has gained 11.14.

Shares of the Radio Corporation of America, which had added 122 points to their market status since the election.

Whether the exchange will close on Saturday to give member firms the opportunity to catch up with their books has not been decided. The governors met this afternoon but made no announcement.

REPORT HELPS COTTON

Glenn of 11,250,000 bales of cotton to Nov. 14, as compared with the current harvest. These figures, traders believe pointed to a crop of 12,700,000 to slightly over 14,000,000 bales.

Announcement of the gluing figures was followed by a break of 15 points on futures. That called out good speculative and mill buying, and an advance of 40 points. Profit taking on the bulls made a break of 10 points from the top. There was a fairly strong close at net gains of 10 to 15 points in Chicago, and gains of 10 to 15 points in other markets with spots up 50 points in New York to 20.50; New Orleans up 10 points to 19.15; Houston up 10 points to 19.15; Liverpool up 10 points to 19.15; London up 10 points to 19.15.

The weekly wheat crop report was favorable but it had little effect. World's production of American cotton is reported to be 14,000,000 bales. Prior fallures:

The Newspaper of Distinction

in
THE WORLD'S GREATEST MARKET

Its READERS

Being the kind of newspaper that it is, The Sun has naturally drawn to itself men and women of intelligence, good taste and means. It is read in more better-class homes in New York than any other weekday newspaper. Its present circulation of over 280,000 shows consistent gain every year for the last six years . . . gains secured without prizes, contests or similar methods of increasing circulation. Ninety-six per cent. of the readers of The Sun live in the city and suburban area.

Its NEWS

The Sun publishes all the news from everywhere . . . quickly, completely, concisely, impartially, accurately. It has features that are informative, features that are entertaining and features that are both. The special departments of Finance, Books, Music, Art, Society, Sports, Radio and the Theater are edited by men who are authorities . . . leaders in their chosen fields.

Its ADVERTISING

The character of its pages and the character and size of its circulation have naturally made The Sun the leader in advertising in its field. Every month for over three years it has led all New York evening newspapers in total volume of advertising. It leads in both National and Local advertising. And in Department Store advertising, the most exacting test of productiveness, The Sun publishes a larger volume than any other New York newspaper . . . seven-day morning as well as six-day evening. But more important than the volume of advertising is the high quality of the advertisements that appear in The Sun . . . a quality assured and maintained by careful censorship.

The Young Pretenders

By Alice Grant Rosman

SYNOPSIS.
Hugo, lying helpless in bed after a motor accident, has never come into the world of the living. He decides that he must be dead and that his mother and father are keeping it from him. His aunt, Lady Eleanor, who, a great cousin, has married a girl of whom his family disapproved and that Hugo had expected to marry Paul and is heartbroken over the affair. Hugo comes to believe the story. Paul, she believes, has been the victim of blackmailers and, because of his marriage, had failed to stand back of him in the affair. Hugo assures Paul that she was never engaged to Paul, but because of her friendship for him she would like to help him.

INSTALLMENT XVI.
HUGO IS CONSULTED.

Hugo was to be consulted. That was something new and he guessed that his friend Sir John to thank for it. The remembrance of the specialist who had been to see him, for wasn't he a messenger? Surely when his father heard about his archaeological studies and his interest in Syria, he'd be pleased and come around a bit. Sir John might even now be telling him, and perhaps after some time his father would come up at last.

In the face of this new excitement, he gave Tright the pen and paper and asked him to push the desk away.

"I have to write a letter, but I'll do it in the morning," he said.

He would feel better in the morning, especially if he had seen his father. He was a fiddle that would make him. Perhaps after all Hugo II. was not to have a permanent crock for a godfather, for Sir John had said there was a chance, had told him to keep an eye on that, and Hugo had an idea that he could trust Sir John. He wasn't such an awful liar as the rest of them.

"Hugo darling, I have brought Mrs. Hallett in to see you," said his mother. "She has kindly agreed to come and read to you for an hour or two every day if you think you would like that. This is my dear boy, Mrs. Hallett."

Hugo, who was longing to laugh at the odd figure being presented to him, was very proud of his mother at that moment. She really was a darling and Lady of Grace was a title that suited her exactly.

The girl for whom his pretty mother was bringing a chair, was certainly a "fun" Hugo thought. He didn't know what was the matter with her except that her dress was the wrong length and the wrong shape. She had a straight fringe that hung down under her drooping hat and

"Hugo," said Hugo, "I want somebody to fight with and you are pretty good at that."

He was aware of two straight lines, not delicately arched and thin and as Bunny's were. She was unlike Bunny altogether; unlike any of the girls he knew. Her complexion was clear but pale and there was no color on her lips. Her whole face had a stillness about it, where Bunny's was full of movement and life and expression, constantly changing.

Then for a moment he saw her eyes, and with that new acuteness of perception which was growing in him, he was aware of a force and beauty and her, something tragic too, in the desperate courage of her glance.

"Hello," said Hugo to himself, "here's another one in the soup."

He felt all at once companionable to Mrs. Hallett.

Leader, evidently instructed, brought tea rather early and Lady Donaldson went away, leaving the two young people to enjoy it together and talk over.

"Right will bring you down when you are ready, Mrs. Hallett. You will see to that, Hugo darling, won't you?" she said.

"Thank you," said the girl, faintly.

He did not call his mother "My ladyship," he was relieved to notice; he did not call her anything. In fact she had barely spoken since she entered the room, and Hugo, watching her pour out his tea and feeling strangely awkward, at length managed to break the silence.

"I hope you won't mind awfully coming to read to me," he said.

"I am in need of work," said Mrs. Hallett briefly.

Her voice was charming, but Hugo thought: "Now isn't that like a girl? Doesn't answer my question but makes a statement."

"Not at all. Everybody," said Mrs. Hallett, looking significantly round the room, "can't have plenty of money."

"Well it isn't my fault," exclaimed Hugo indignantly, in answer to the remark.

"I hate the room as much as you do."

"Hate it? Why, it's beautiful," Mrs. Hallett's tone was outraged. "I think you are very lucky," she said with sudden bitterness.

"O, rather. My word I am." Hugo laughed and hoped she knew it was hollow laughter. This girl disliked him already, it was evident, and he felt childishly annoyed about it. "You'll simply hate reading to me. I am sure that," he said aggressively.

Mrs. Hallett stood up.

"If I don't suit you, Mr. Donaldson, I had better go," she said in a low voice.

There was a short laugh, but no means hollow this time, from the girl.

"Don't be an ass," said Mr. Donaldson unexpectedly. "Look here, you are a funny girl. You can't have a row with a person you've only known two minutes. It's simply ridiculous."

The girl stood looking down at the tea table in a troubled way. Hugo smiled at her but could not catch her eye, so he said in a friendly voice: "I say, I know all about you."

"What?" exclaimed Mrs. Hallett, evidently startled.

"You're the lodger of the mother of the young man Tright's daughter's walking out with."

He thought that would amuse her, but she merely sat down again and began in a nervous fashion to drink her tea.

"What shall I be, I wonder?" pursued Hugo, watching her out of one eye.

"I suppose I'll be the client of the lodger of the mother of the young man Tright's daughter's walking out with. Now you do one. We can go on for miles."

This time his effort was rewarded with a little wavering smile, which had, however, as she said in a troubled voice:

"I'm afraid I shan't be cheerful enough for you."

"Cheerful?" cried Hugo. "My word, if you go being cheerful with me, you shall have a flare up, I can tell you. You wouldn't believe how many cheerful people I have about me. It's awful. . . . only don't you tell them that because I wouldn't like to hurt their feelings. They think it's the proper way to treat a battered wreck and you can almost see 'em turning ashen at the meter as they come in the door. If you'll come along and be as cheerfully miserable you'll be doing me no end of a good turn."

He was no longer able to resist his wheedling tone and she looked at him and smiled.

"Indeed," proceeded Hugo wickedly, "I want somebody to fight with and you are pretty good at that."

The smile disappeared.

"You I can fight," said Mrs. Hallett in a level voice. "You haven't touched your tea, Mr. Donaldson, and if you don't have it at once, I shall be away until you have finished it."

"Where?" inquired the villain on the bed with eager interest.

"I suppose I could wait outside your door."

"Very suspicious. Any one coming along would be sure you could be working there for no good purpose. They'd call the police and you'd be arrested for battery and arson and selling intoxicating liquors on unlicensed premises after hours. And just as you were about to be shot at down the staircase would come rushing out shouting: 'Unhand that lady, you might have known she's the lodger of the mother of the young man Tright's daughter's walking out with.' Exit Mrs. Hallett with halo. Police fall in all directions."

Lax in Caring for Its InsaneProblem Grows Worse, Doctors Declare.

Illinois, despite additions to asylums and prisons during the last four years, is further behind the demands made on the state than it was before. It now needs 45 per cent larger facilities, where before it needed 42 per cent, according to the statements made at the dinner of the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene held at the Medical and Dental Arts club by Dr. H. Douglass, professor of neurology at the University of Illinois medical school. The society seeks legislation for better care.

"The crowded conditions existing now in our various state institutions makes adequate care impossible," declared Dr. Ralph C. Hamill, president of the association. "Life expectancy there is an increase of 9 per cent in insanity each year. Where we need 50 square feet of living space for each individual in the institutions there are about 10 square feet, and when we need at least one psychiatrist for a maximum of each 150 persons, we have one for every 350 persons."

Dr. Hamill said the insane must be cared for in two ways, custodial and remedial. "We have failed miserably on the custodial side, and that has affected our success in remedial measures," he asserted.

"Preventive measures against insanity are being attempted to curtail this increase. The Juvenile Institute of Research is striving to give parents proper ways of thinking and living so they more wisely can train their growing children."

"The people of the state of Illinois will get just what they pay for," Dr. Charles Reed said, in giving the report of the legislative committee which has been trying to evolve plans for the future care of the insane.

"Last year the referendum for bond issues was unsuccessful, so we still are searching for a solution to our big problem. Additions to old institutions, new institutions, and a sufficiently large corps of nurses, physicians, and attendants, are an absolute necessity, and we must have funds for taking care of the delinquent and feeble minded."

Mrs. Coolidge Christens Sub for Air Liner That Crashed
Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—[U. P.]—Mrs. Calvin Coolidge bestowed the name of Christopher Columbus today on the flagship of an air fleet, the Pan-American Airways, Inc., planes to place in service between Miami, Cuba and Panama. A tri-motored Ford plane at the flying field here served for the corporation's ship, which crashed in New Jersey yesterday on its way here for the ceremony. Mrs. Coolidge broke a bottle of water over the nose of the plane which served for the ship with the words: "I christen thee Christopher Columbus."

Plan $200,000 Campaign for Fresh Air Sanitarium
Their old site at 65th street and the lake in Jackson park, assured by the south park commissioners, seventy-five trustees and members of the board of the Jackson Park Children's sanitarium put new impetus into their expansion program yesterday. Plans were made for a campaign for $200,000 to erect a new building. They met in the Cooper-Carlton hotel. The campaign will start after Xmas.

Cardinal Dedicates School for Nurses on South Side

Dedication of the new home of St. Bernard's Hotel Dieu school of Nursing, 64th street and Harvard avenue, a department of Loyola university, and the celebration of the silver jubilee of the founding of the Religious Hospital of St. Joseph in Chicago, took place yesterday with Cardinal Mundelein in charge of the ceremonies.

The Cardinal was met upon his arrival by a guard of honor including the Loyola university band, the medical staff of the hospital, graduate nurses and friends of the hospital. Dedication ceremonies at the new nurses' home followed.

Methodists Vote $3,400,000 for the Foreign Missions
New York, Nov. 21.—[U. P.]—The board of foreign missions of the Methodist Episcopal church voted today to appropriate approximately $3,400,000 for missionary work in foreign fields during the next year.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Miss Rose Erickson, 1008 North Shore avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

If you came from a foreign country, would you like to return here or do you prefer to live in this country?

The Answers.

Charles Ehrlich, 3935 West Division street, salesman—I was born in Vienna, Austria, famed for its beautiful women, artistic statues, etc. I came here with my parents when I was ten years old, and despite all the attractions that I am told are over there I prefer to stay here.

Mrs. Fay Miller, 5416 Grand boulevard, housewife—I was born in Russia, but I know no reason why I should ever think of returning to live there. I might go back for a visit. I was very young when I came here with my parents. We are all naturalized citizens of the United States.

William Schor, 3917 Adams street, real estate dealer—I was born and lived for years in Paris, France; came to New York City with my family in 1907, moved to Chicago in 1914. One can get a dollar easier in this country, but it is spent easier. People in France never spend all they make, have they sometimes spend more than they make. I like both countries.

Miss Claribel Kyle, 841 North Michigan avenue, secretary—I came from Canada, but I prefer to live here for many reasons, but especially for the musical advantages. I enjoy recitals, grand opera, symphony orchestra concerts, theaters, the art institute.

Jacques Mechnhoff, 4813 Belmont avenue, real estate dealer—This is the best country in the world, and I have traveled all around the world. I was born in Russia, during the czar's regime. The United States' system of government is right.

Andre Skalski Leads Symphony Orchestra
in His Chicago Debut

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Andre Skalski, having made himself a part of the musical life of Chicago as a pianist for the last two seasons, last night introduced himself in a new function, that of conductor of a symphony orchestra which bears his name. The program testified as to his experience as a conductor elsewhere in Australia and England, but he himself was a more potent witness that the baton was not unfamiliar to his hand. He appeared to have a perfectly definite plan in his head of how he wanted his music to sound, and a perfectly plain idea of how to communicate his wishes to the players. The orchestra, numbering about seventy members, was a reasonably efficient body, and would have been quite a bit more efficient if some of the wind section had decided before the concert that it would be nice to get in tune with each other and with the other choirs.

Still, Mr. Skalski made a favorable impression in his orchestral debut here. He favors the suave rather than the sensational in his effects, phrasing neatly, never permitting the brass or drums or other sources of power to get out of hand, leading on his players to their most mellow tone, and doing it all with few flourishes and no-gratuitous gestures. The program was an all-Russian one, Tchaikovsky's "Romance and Juliet," Kalinikov's First Symphony, a pair of pieces by Ljadov, and the overture to Borodin's "Prince Igor."

Misha Livshutz, violinist, concluded the series of three "gala concerts" at the Goodman theater yesterday afternoon. His program, a fairly representative one which began with two works by Beethoven, a Romance and Leopold Auer's "Dealings of the Sheroz from 'The Ruins of Athens,'" was played pleasantly, in good tone and with a well-developed if not overwhelming technical equipment.

Predicts Television Radio as Usual Part of Farm Life
Denver, Colo., Nov. 21.—[U. P.]—Col. D. W. Ainsworth of Des Moines, Ia., in a report to the national convention of the farmers' union here today, predicted that radio's latest innovation—television—would become a part of the nightly air reception in the American farm home by Jan. 1, 1929.

"By Jan. 1, 1929, we can say safely that the farmer-labor radio station at Downers Grove, near Chicago, will be on the air not only for farm and labor sound programs but for television programs as well," he said.

"The receiving apparatus for television will cost in the neighborhood of $50."

THEATER

MRS. CARTER, here last season in Mr. Tyler's revival of "She Sings to Conquer," and Will Mahoney, recently the pro-forma star in a bust-up called "Take the Air!" are bunched to divide the bill-topping of next week's bill in the Palace. She, it is expected, will appear in a sketch made up of matter from "The Shanghai Gesture," in which she has been performing—and of which she is part-author. Mr. Mahoney, who is not a stranger to the two-day clientele, sings, dances, falls, and jests, and, by report, gets $2,500 a week for doing these things.

Louise K. Ansperger's lecture this afternoon under the auspices of the Drama League of Chicago will be in the main dining-room of the Drake Hotel, and not in the ballroom of the Blackstone, as previously announced. Doctor Ansperger's theme is "Ibsen's Influence on Women in Modern American Plays."

Miss Anglin, who recently gave up the rôle of Lady Macbeth to Miss Florence Reed, says she will soon appear in New York in "The Great Lady Deadlock," which is the play based on Dickens' "Bleak House" wherein she acted early in 1924 in the Blackstone Theater. The few who saw Miss Anglin in the piece may recall that she acted both Lady Deadlock and Hortense, the French maid. . . . The dramatization is by Paul Keister, once quite active as a writer for the stage. Beverly's Balance, in which Miss Anglin appeared in 1915 in the Grand Opera-House, was his. So also was "Sweet Nell of Old Drury," in which the late Ada Rehan appeared here when the century was young. Anglin made the dramatic debut of Charles Major's "When Knighthood Was in Flower" in which Miss Marlowe was so successful as a romping comedienne.

Nine new plays are listed for next week in New York; and there will be, besides, a fresh venture with the revue and a new play, which has been rewritten since, three weeks ago, it was shut down after seven performances there. And Miss Eva Le Gallienne will make a revival of "Peter Pan," casting herself in the title rôle. Despite so many new plays, not fewer than twelve theaters will be "dark" there for the Thanksgiving holiday; successful production has not so far this season caught up with the over-supply of houses. The record of new plays and important revivals at the end of next week will stand for the season at 108, as against 109 for the corresponding period of last year.

All of which, you may say, has to do with New York, a thousand miles away, while THE TRIBUNE is a Chicago newspaper; and my thought point is that upon the successful activities in the New York theaters depends the supply for the theaters in this city.

This is a list of nine new plays: "Holiday," by Philip Barry; "A Most Immoral Lady," by Townsend Marlyn, with Miss Alice Brady; "The Lady Lies," by John Meehan; "Back Here"; "The Age of Innocence," dramatized from Edith Wharton's fine novel, with Miss Katharine Cornell; "Congal," based on the like-named novel, with Miss Helen Menken; "The Perfect Alibi," by A. A. Milne, his London success called "The Fourth Wall" under a new title; "Tomorrow"; "Mims," with Miss Lenore Ulric, postponed from tonight.

Although the second cast of "Strange Interlude" has been assembled with a tour in view, Miss Pauline Lord and her associates therein are to have the week before Christmas in New York; while they are performing there, the first cast will take a rest.

Next of the Passion Plays Are to Be Given in 1930
OBERAMMERGAU, Bavaria, Nov. 21.—[U. P.]—The dates for the next Passion plays have been fixed May 15 to Sept. 30, 1930. There will be one play a week during May and June, two a week during July and August, and one a week during September. A new open air theater, with a capacity of 5,000, is in process of construction.

BEG YOUR PARDON
Concerning the death of Prof. Daniel J. Ellingsen, who was killed Sunday while employed as an elevator operator, THE TRIBUNE quoted a brother of Ellingsen who said the professor had not been notified of his discharge from Luther college, Decorah, Ia., in time to obtain re-employment as a teacher. Oscar L. Olson, president of Luther college, said Prof. Ellingsen had been told last year that his course was being dropped from the curriculum, so that he had ample time to secure another teaching job.

UJIYAMADA, Japan, Nov. 21.—The Japanese emperor and empress have completed their enthronement ceremonies at the grand shrines of Ise and will return to Kyoto tomorrow. The rites of worship performed at the Ko Dai Jingu, or Inner shrine, this morning were similar to the rites in the outer shrine yesterday.

Thousands of girl students and 6,000 girl workers of the Toyo Spinning company paraded through the Ujiyama streets this afternoon, carrying flags, singing the enthronement song and giving three bannans in front of the building of the grand shrine, where the emperor and empress are staying. Chamberlain Honda acknowledged the greeting in the name of the emperor.

On the completion of today's rites the emperor ordered the sacred horse, Sankin, which he dedicated to the growth shrine last fall, to be brought for a personal feeding of carrots. Sankin was the emperor's favorite horse before the present favorite, Fukubi. He was presented to Ise to succeed Miyuki, the favorite horse of Emperor Meiji, which died in August.

Lady Osler's Will Honors Both Husbands' Memories
LONDON, Nov. 21.—[U. P.]—Several bequests to American universities are contained in the will of Lady Osler, widow of Sir William Osler, made public today. There were 15,000—about $24,000—left to Jefferson Medical college of Philadelphia for surgery lectures in memory of Dr. Samuel W. Cross; £2,000—about $3,000—to the Tudor and Stuart club or library of Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore; and £500 to the Gross library at the College of Physicians, Philadelphia. Lady Osler also left £10,000 to McGill university at Montreal for the upkeep of the Osler library. Lady Osler, who died in August, was the eldest daughter of the late John Revere of Boston. Her first husband was the late Dr. Samuel Gross of Philadelphia and her second was Sir William Osler.

Airplane Show Space All Taken, Officials Say
Officials of the aeronautical chamber of commerce in charge of the international aeronautical exposition to be held here Dec. 1 to 9 report that all space in both the Coliseum and the Vliet infantry armory has been reserved by the 50 aircraft manufacturers who will show approximately 75 different airplanes. Additional space may be required to comply with the requests of the exhibitors. It is reported.

Plan Airplane Ball; Pep Meeting Is Set for an Actual Flight

BY THALIA

The businessmen might have learned a thing or two about high pressure salesmanship, if they had heard Mrs. Waller Borden and Mrs. Jacob Baur before the committee working for the airplane ball to be given for the benefit of the Illinois Children's Home and society at the old First Regiment armory on Dec. 3.

The talks were given at the tea meeting at Mrs. Borden's residence yesterday afternoon. One of the interesting bits of information brought out was that William Mitchell Blair is to head the committee of ushers for the affair, and that the young man Mr. Blair is enlisting to assist pilots to assist their way to and out among the huge planes perched around the dance floor are all flyers or would-be flyers. And Mrs. Borden announced that one of the breathless "pep" meetings is to be held in the air in a big plane. The armory is to have a new floor and new decorations for the occasion. This information was offered the ticket salesman as a selling point, as the former floor was lamentably lumpy.

Among the workers present were Princess Carlotta Cantacuzene, out and about for the first time since the advent of their young son, who is working on the ticket committee and assisting Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick with the boxes. Mrs. John J. Finlay, who was Miss Jane Scriven before her marriage recently, and Mrs. John T. Walling, back a few days ago from California.

The Orientals of the Art Institute are sponsoring a lecture by Dr. Thalia Adams on "The Art of the Japanese Theater and Royal Japanese Dances," in Fullerton hall of the institute at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. An exhibition of costumes and textiles in the oriental galleries of the Hutchinson wing follows.

The drama league is having the last of its trio of lectures at the Drake hotel this afternoon. Presiding at the tables following the talk will be Mrs. Charles H. Morse, Mrs. Charles S. Peterson, Mrs. William Lee O'Brien, Mrs. Clarence Hough, and Mrs. O. M. Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Dox and Miss Dorothy Dox have come in from their summer home at Glenview and are at the Seneca hotel for the week. Mrs. D. Mark Cummings' monthly home dressmakers' sale is to take place today at the White Elephant Rumming shop. It is usually the last Thursday of the month, and has been moved ahead because of Thanksgiving.

The Woman's Athletic club invites its members to "travel to the lands of romance and mystery surrounding the blue waters of the Mediterranean" in a motion picture entitled "A Mediterranean Luxury Cruise" on Tuesday morning next. Members may catch this trip.

John J. Mitchell is chairman of the committee of patrons in charge of Emily Roosevelt's debut concert appearance in Chicago at Orchestra hall on Friday evening, Nov. 30. Other members of the committee include Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, Mrs. Augustus S. Peabody, and Miss Olga Mann.

The Society of Midland Authors will hold its annual dinner on Dec. 1 at the Tarn at 7 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wood, authors, will be the guests of the society, and Mr. Stevens is to speak.

The Tavern has cards out for its initial supper dance on Dec. 1 at 10 o'clock in the evening.

The chairman of the various committees in charge of the Kenwood Social Service club annual benefit gave a luncheon at the Woman's Athletic club yesterday for members of the committee making arrangements for the charity performance of "Paris Bound" on Dec. 4 at the Harris theater.

Mrs. H. Crompton Bangs gave a luncheon and theater party yesterday for her house guest, Mrs. Nathan Elliott of Lexington, Ky. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Borland of 1435 Astor street returned yesterday on the S. S. Olympia after six weeks spent in Europe. Their son, John J. Borland, who is a star football player, will return to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents.

Among the S. S. Majestic's passengers last Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Blossom Jr. of Lake Forest, who are going over for one of these quick trips. They plan to be back in time for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Kirk of 229 Lake Shore drive are in the east to attend some of the football games, and will return next week.

Miss Katherine Thorne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Thorne of 1436 Lake View avenue, leaves today for New Haven to go to the Yale-Harvard game. After that she will visit her sister, Miss Laura Thorne at Wellesley.

Mrs. Edward L. Hader has just returned from New York City. There she visited her sister, Mrs. Pauline L. Conley, and is to be at the Ambassador for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Glickert, who have moved from 181 Lake Shore drive to 1436 Lake Shore drive, are giving their first dinner party in their new residence this evening, afterward taking their guests to the opera.

Helps with Concert

MRS. A. J. OCHSENER.

[Concert Notes.]

Mrs. A. J. Ochsenr. is co-chairman with Mrs. Frederic Uphan of the advisory board of the women's symphony orchestra. That orchestra will give a concert Sunday evening at the Thacher residence. Mrs. H. H. A. Beach of Boston, who is visiting the Thacher family of 1436 North State street, will be in the audience to hear one of her own compositions, "The Gaelic Symphony." The Melodists gave a program for Mrs. Beach yesterday. That was followed by a buffet luncheon at the Thacher residence. Among the guests were Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. Charles H. Swift, Mrs. Augustus S. Peabody, and Mrs. George H. Ferguson.

University of Illinois Adds to Approaching Vacations

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—The University of Illinois students will be granted five days' vacation at Thanksgiving and fifteen days during the Christmas holidays. The latter vacation has been increased two days. Thanksgiving vacation starts next Wednesday noon with classes being resumed the following Monday afternoon. The holiday recess starts at 11 o'clock Dec. 22, with classes being resumed at eight o'clock Monday, Jan. 7.

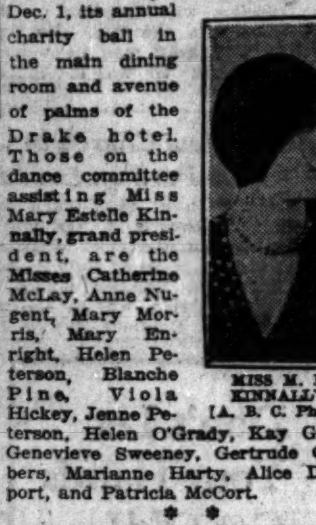

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. James J. Davis, wife of the secretary of labor, and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the war President, were among the assistants of Mrs. Joseph E. Davies when she presented her second daughter, Rachel, to society this afternoon at a tea. Mrs. Davies was closely associated with the late President Woodrow Wilson during his two administrations. Among others assisting were Mrs. De Forest, wife of the Cuban ambassador; Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of the senator from Idaho; and Miss Laura Frances Otis, niece of Mrs. Kellogg. The wives of the members of the cabinet had a meeting yesterday with Mrs. Kellogg at which they made definite plans for the season. They will hold no Wednesday afternoon receptions until after the first of January. They will, however, keep "open house" on New Year's day. At that time only men are expected to call and which will be the official opening of the cabinet season. Mrs. Davies, wife of the Vice President, is also included in the cabinet group.

Plans Founders' Dinner. Phi Mu Chi fraternity will hold the annual Founders' day dinner at the Hotel La Salle on Thursday evening, Nov. 22. The toastmaster will be Dr. William Conway.

Zeta Sigma Psi to Give Charity Ball December 1

Zeta Sigma Psi, a national sorority, will give on the night of Saturday, Dec. 1, its annual charity ball in the main dining room and avenue of palms of the Drake hotel.

[A. R. C. Press.]

Those on the dance committee assisting Miss Mary Estelle Kinnally, grand president, are the Misses Catherine McLay, Anne Nugent, Mary Morris, Mary Enright, Helen Peterson, Blanche Pine, Viola Hickey, Jennie Peterson, Helen O'Grady, Kay Golden, Genevieve Sweeney, Gertrude Chambers, Marianne Hart, Alice Davenport, and Patricia McCormick.

SOCIETY AT THE OPERA

There were several groups of young people in the box circle at the opera last night, where "Romeo and Juliet" was being sung. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Williams were hosts in the box of Mrs. Kirk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Kirk. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Payne Kellogg (Louis Mitchell), Mrs. James H. Douglas Jr. (Grace McGinn), and Origen West. The Robert J. Thornes had with them their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dunlap Smith, another daughter, Miss Katherine Thorne, William Lunderback, and Carroll Sudler.

Miss Anita Blair, who takes terms with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Blair, in inviting guests to occupy the Blair's Wednesday night box, had with her Miss Helen Gilbert, Miss Mary Meeker, William McKee, Arthur Heun, and Arthur Meeker Jr.

Mrs. Hugh Johnston, McSherry's guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Robert H. Allerton, and Dr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson. With Dr. and Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum were Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Morse, Frank O. Salisbury, a London portrait painter who is in Chicago executing several commissions, and Mrs. Salisbury.

With Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Poole were Mrs. David C. Davies and Frederick A. Poole, Jr.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Nov. 21.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Brown gave a dinner for Mr. and Mrs. T. Sufferer Teller last night at the Savoy-Plaza. Mrs. J. Henry Lacashire, who has been visiting her daughter, Miss Umberto Coletti-Perucca, in Florence, Italy, will return early next month. Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Spencer and the latter's daughter, Miss Natica Penbody, have taken an apartment at the Plaza for the winter.

Theodore Rousseau and his daughter, Miss Dolores Rousseau, have returned from Pittsburgh and are at the Elks Tower. Mrs. Walter H. Close has returned from White Sulphur Springs and is at the Westbury for the winter. Mrs. Frank N. Donahedy entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Park Lane.

Loring School Luncheon.

The annual meeting and luncheon of the Loring School association is to be held today at Mallard's. Miss Lucille Simmons is in charge of the reservations. Mrs. W. David Owen is to read some of her own poems.

Use for Old Opera Glasses.

"I should like to have an opera glass or a pair of opera glasses. I can use them when I am at church and I miss so much of the ceremony when I am at church that the glass would help me immensely."

Who can supply the need of this correspondent? The opera glasses you so seldom use could be put in charity for this woman whose eyes, probably, are not so strong as yours.

That dangerous phrase "Only a cold"

HAVING a cold is a serious matter. How serious is indicated by the death-rate of pneumonia, influenza and other diseases which usually result from colds. Cold-goggles can reproduce themselves seven million times in twelve hours! In treating a cold quick action is vital. That's where Vapez comes in. It can be used on an instant's notice, anywhere, any time. Put a drop or two on your handkerchief or pillow. Breathe this vapor—that's all. Competition is rapidly relieved. The little bottle of Vapez concentrate, handy for carrying in vest pocket or hand-bag, contains fifty treatments. Yet it costs only a dollar. Buy a bottle of Vapez at any drug store. (Vapez, made in England, is distributed and guaranteed in the United States by E. Fougere & Co., Inc., New York City.)

Enjoy a real Thanksgiving Dinner at The Drake

FREE from all responsibility you will find added cause for giving thanks if you celebrate Thanksgiving with a gala dinner at THE DRAKE. A real home turkey dinner with all the "trimmings," savory, satisfying, as tempting as though prepared in your own kitchen.

While your guests revel in the unusual deliciousness of Drake food, you will congratulate yourself just as highly on the perfection of service, the air of festive gaiety, the distinction of your entertainment.

Special Thanksgiving Dinner served in the Main Dining Room, noon to 8:30 P.M. Table d'hôte $3.00, also a la carte service. Music by Henry Selinger and The Drake Ensemble Orchestra. We suggest that reservation be made as early as possible. Telephone Superior 2200.

The image is a vertical, high-contrast scan of a dark, textured surface. It appears to be a close-up of a book cover or a piece of aged wood. The texture is characterized by numerous fine, vertical lines and grooves. A small, light-colored, rectangular object is visible near the top center, possibly a piece of tape or a label. The overall lighting is very low, creating a dramatic, almost black-and-white effect.
